1 (On the record at 9:34 a.m.)

2 MS. PEREZ: Good morning. Good
3 morning, everyone. Let me get the meeting 4 started.

5 Thank you.

6 I'm Sue Perez. I'm the Deputy
7 Treasurer. Treasurer Goldberg will be here
8 shortly, but we figured we'd get started.

9 We'll just start with the meeting 10 script.

11 The Massachusetts Open Meeting Law
12 permits meetings to be recorded and states 13 that the chair shall inform attendees at the 14 beginning of the meeting of any recordings.

15 So accordingly, I am informing you
16 that Darlene Coppola, seated here to my left, 17 is transcribing and also recording this 18 meeting.

19 If anyone else in attendance today is 20 recording the meeting, I would ask that you 21 identify yourself.

22 Seeing none.

23 Also for the benefit of our 24 stenographer and all those who are listening,

1 please identify yourself by name and speak 2 clearly and audibly so she can get it for the 3 minutes.

4 With that, we'll open the meeting.

5 And we'll -- we have the first motion,
6 which is to approve the minutes.

7 So the motion is that the PRIM board
8 approve the minutes of its May 14, 2019 9 meeting and further to authorize the executive 10 director to take all actions necessary to 11 effectuate this vote.

12 MR. BROUSSEAU: So moved.

13 MR. SHANLEY: Second.

14 MS. PEREZ: All those in favor.
15 (Unanimous vote.)

16 MS. PEREZ: The next one is the 17 executive director.

18 MR. TROTSKY: Thank you very 19 much, Sue, and thank you all, for making the 20 effort to be here today, everyone in the 21 audience, board members, and our distinguished 22 guests from the investment committee, Michael 23 Even and Glenn Strehle, thank you very much 24 for coming. We also have three

1 representatives from our clients, Jim Quirk,
2 Patrick Brock, who also serves on the admin
3 and audit committee and compensation
4 committee, and Chuck Kostro is here from Essex
5 County. Thank you, gentlemen, for coming.

6 So today we review our fiscal 2019
7 results. But first, as usual, I'll give an 8 organizational update.

9 And later is -- this is my favorite
10 day of the year -- I'm being sarcastic --
11 because I get to have my performance 12 evaluation in an open public meeting. I've 13 never gotten used to that. And so this year, 14 I tried something different. I have a root 15 canal scheduled for after this, and that's no
16 joke. So I'm getting two of the hardest
17 things of the year out of the way today. So 18 bear with me -- that's no joke either.

19 MS. FITCH: That will be fun.

20 MR. TROTSKY: That will be fun.

21 So thank you for coming.

22 As I mentioned at the committee
23 meetings and I'll mention again today, we 24 welcomed three new full-time staff members and

1 six new interns recently to PRIM, and I'd like 2 to introduce them all.

3 First, I think you've all met her,
4 Marliese Lawson, behind me, as my new 5 executive assistant. You're doing a terrific 6 job already after just a few weeks.

7 Marliese has worked at Health Net
8 Federal Services, a global healthcare services 9 company, as an executive assistant. Prior to 10 that she was an executive assistant at the 11 accounting firm Perry Smith, LLP. She's a 12 graduate of Gordon College on the North Shore, 13 with a degree in English literature, and from 14 Salem State University with a master's in 15 English degree. Those are two degrees that 16 are coming in handy already. Your attention 17 to detail is great.

18 Next Sarah Zatoonian. Sarah joins our 19 private equity team as an investment analyst.
20 She was most recently at the Holy Cross 21 investment office where she was a member of a 22 four-person team responsible for the 23 management and oversight of the entire 24 endowment and pension.

1 Sarah holds dual bachelor's degrees in 2 economics and classics -- yes, classics is 3 Latin, Greek, and the history therein -- both 4 from Holy Cross. So that's a wonderful 5 complement of education.

6 Jay Leu, next to Sarah, joined as our 7 new director of risk management. He brings 8 over 30 years of investment industry
9 experience, joining us from most recently from 10 Aesir Capital Management, a long/short credit 11 hedge fund, where he was most recently their 12 director of risk management.

13 Prior to this, Jay was the lead 14 portfolio manager and business unit head of 15 structured US equity at Lee Munder Capital
16 Group. He held the chief investment officer
17 position at Independence Investment
18 Associates, which Lee Munder later acquired, 19 and at Pacific Capital fixed income advisor.

20 Jay began his career at State Street
21 Global Advisors as both a domestic and global 22 fixed income portfolio manager, and he's also 23 an adjunct professor currently at Brandeis 24 University, where he joins Eric Nierenberg,

1 sitting right next to him.

2 At the Brandeis University Business
3 School, he teaches international portfolio 4 management, fixed income investments, and 5 investment management.

6 Jay holds a bachelor's degree in 7 chemical engineering and a master's degree in 8 finance, both from MIT. And you're off to a 9 very busy, productive start, and we have a lot 10 of things for you to do.

11 So it's great to have you all.

12 We also welcome six new interns to 13 PRIM. I think most are here. One's term 14 finished last week, so she's not here, but I'm 15 going to mention her anyway.

16 The strategy team is currently working 17 with four interns. All of them are graduate 18 students at Brandeis University's 19 international business school. We have a very 20 good pipeline into Brandeis with Jay and Eric 21 on the staff there.

22 First, Yuqing Gao. Yuqing is working 23 with PCS this summer. Yuqing holds a bachelor 24 of economics and finance and a bachelor in

1 French, both in the University of 2 International Business and Economics in 3 Beijing.

4 Roy Guo. Roy is working with the 5 research team this summer. He holds a
6 bachelor of science in finance from Wake 7 Forest University.

8 Nathalia Miranda. Nathalia is working
9 with the research team this summer. She holds 10 a master's of finance management degree from 11 the University EAFIT in Colombia, South
12 America, and graduated with a bachelor's 13 degree in petroleum engineering from the 14 National University in Colombia.

15 Tia Sun is working with PCS this 16 summer. She holds a bachelor in management 17 and accounting from Tongi University of 18 finance in economics in China.

19 And Katherine Guo, who just completed 20 her internship, joined us from the Women in 21 Finance Fellowship program at the treasurer's 22 office.

23 Katherine was working with public
24 markets, and is currently a rising sophomore

1 at Wellesley College. She did a wonderful 2 job, and it was great to have her.

3 I mentioned before and I'll mention 4 again that we recently had 25 women from 5 Wellesley College in here recently to learn 6 about the pension fund management and the 7 investment management industry in general, 25 8 women, Connie Everson, Jill Hatton on the 9 real estate committee, Jennifer, Jennifer,
10 next to Paul, and I hosted them and answered 11 any questions they had. It was a great 12 lively group. I was a little disappointed 13 because more than half of them were 14 interested in private equity and are going 15 into that. But it's good news that they're 16 interested in the investment management 17 industry, and hopefully we can get more women 18 involved there.

19 The CFA Society Boston launched the 20 Women in Investment Management Internship 21 program this summer, and PRIM was one of the 22 four founding members invited to participate.

23 And joining us from that new 24 internship program is Yijie Zeng. Yijie.
She is working with the real estate in timberland

1 team and is a rising senior at Bentley
2 University.

3 So thank you all for joining PRIM for 4 your internship. I hope you find it
5 fulfilling, and I know you will, and I know 6 you're doing a great job.

7 Next in the area of national 8 recognition, and we have received a lot of 9 national recognition, Paul Shanley just showed 10 me this article where it says, "MassPRIM 11 Peerless Among Pension Private Equity
12 Performers."

13 And I'm pleased to report that for the 14 second consecutive year now, PRIM private 15 equity ranked number one in private equity
16 returns among 163 US public pension funds, 17 based on ten-year performance numbers.

18 PRIM is the only fund that has been in 19 the top five of all private equity portfolios 20 in every single year that the American 21 Investment Council has performed this study, 22 including number one rankings in 2019, this 23 year, 2018, 2015 and 2013.

24 So it's a tremendous run.

1     Congratulations to the entire private equity
2     team.  Mike Bailey, who requested a day off
3     for family vacation, and I granted it.  Mike 4     McGirr will be filling in ably for him.  And 5     Sarah Zatoonian, you join a great team.

6             Let's give them around of applause.

7                     (Applause.)

8             MR. TROTSKY:  This was just one
9     of many pieces.  This was one that came out 10    most recently, but it definitely got good 11    media coverage.  I think we're expecting some 12    more as well.

13             We can pass that around to you.
14    Feel free to keep that.

15             MS. FITCH:  Thank you.

16             MR. TROTSKY:  I'm also very 17    pleased to report that in early June and for 18    the 14th consecutive year now, PRIM was 19    awarded the GFOA, the Governance Finance 20    Officer Association's, certificate of 21    achievement for excellence in financial 22    reporting.  This is for our comprehensive 23    annual financial report.

24             It really awards us for the

1 completeness and timeliness of our financial 2 reporting.

3 Thank you to Quing Mei, Tony, Deb,
4 Matt, and the entire finance team for that 5 astounding accomplishment. It really is a
6 testimony of the hard work, transparency, 7 completeness of our very complex reporting.
8 And it's no small task, so thank you.

9 And last, it was an honor for me to 10 follow in Glenn Strehle's footsteps as I was 11 recently appointed to chair the CFA Society in 12 Boston. You, Glenn, were also the chair many 13 years ago and you have offered to give me your 14 advice through my tenure there. It's a 15 one-year term.

16 As a reminder, the CFA Boston serves 17 more than 6,000 members, which is really big, 18 around the greater Boston area. The CFA 19 Society Boston is the local chapter of the 20 International CFA Institute, which now serves 21 175,000 members in more than 164 countries.
22 164 countries, that's a lot. I never knew 23 there were so many.

24 But that's a great honor to me as

1 well.

2           Next, I want to update you on the 3 Kainos private equity situation, which I first 4 discussed with many of you at the board table
5 in April, all of you.

6           We are now happy to report that we no 7 longer have a financial relationship with 8 Kainos Capital. After exhausting all
9 available options, PRIM sold its Kainos 10 Capital Fund 2 interest and all three of our 11 Kainos co-investments to a secondary buyer on 12 Friday, June 28, 2019.

13           Essentially, Kainos was unwilling to 14 release PRIM from contractual monetary
15 commitments while the firm's founding partners
16 were suing each other in claims alleging fraud 17 and other unacceptable behaviors.

18           The PRIM investment team essentially 19 lost faith in the Kainos team, and we believe 20 that the financial and reputational risks of 21 continuing to do business with Kainos
22 outweighed any future possible future 23 benefits.

24           So thank you to the several board and

1 committee members who helped us strategize a 2 plan to execute this excellent outcome for 3 PRIM, and also to the private equity team and 4 to Chris Supple for your excellent work in 5 quickly recognizing and extracting PRIM from a 6 risky and messy situation, and we're pleased 7 that we're out of it.

8           Importantly, I believe we have taken 9 an industry-leading position in the resolution 10 of this situation. And more important,
11 really, and you'll see it in my goals later, I 12 hope to continue to lead peer private equity 13 institutional investor limited partners, and 14 in particular, like-minded peer public pension 15 funds limited partners to wield increasing 16 negotiating leverage and exercise greater 17 power in regard to our private equity 18 contracts.

19           It's going to be difficult to 20 accomplish, but I think we can do it. It's a 21 goal of ours in 2020 to move the needle in 22 this regard a little bit, and it's on my 23 personal goals and objectives that you will 24 hopefully approve later for 2020, again, to 1 move the needle in this regard.

2 Now, since we are recapping the fiscal 3 year 2019, I've created a top 20 list for 4 expediency today of accomplishments and 5 highlights. It's a top 20 list, but I want to 6 highlight that there are literally hundreds of 7 accomplishments, and I don't mean to demean
8 any of the others that I don't mention today.
9 You'll see more detailed lists in other 10 places. There are simply too many to 11 highlight today.

12 But in addition to PRIM's private 13 equity ranking number one that I already 14 highlighted and the GFOA certificate for the 15 14th consecutive year, staff identified and 16 recommended and this a board approved 17 $5.7 billion in new investments during the 18 fiscal year. 5.7 billion in new investments 19 is a very productive year. It's a lot of 20 money, a lot of capital put to work.

21 We funded 16 private equity funds
22 totaling $1.8 billion. We added six new 23 managers to the PCS portfolio for 1.4 billion.
24 We developed and launched an innovative new

1 emerging managers direct hedge fund program,
2 very creative work, Bill and Eric, for a total 3 of 200 million in capital.

4 We selected three new real estate
5 managers, Christina was highly involved with 6 Tim and John, $1 billion in new capital 7 committed there.

8 We invested an additional hundred 9 million dollars in investment and industrial 10 development, warehousing space in the real 11 estate area.

12 And we acquired 191,000 acres -- 13 191,000 acres -- of PRIME timberland all the 14 way down in New Zealand for $210 million.

15 On Project SAVE, Phase II initiative, 16 something that Michael Even is involved with 17 and helping us immensely on, that's the direct 18 management initiative, and these are 19 investments outside of traditional fee 20 structures.

21 We've completed two new direct real 22 estate purchases, totaling 475 million in 23 equity plus debt. And those buildings are 24 very close to here. They're 53 State Street,

1 out the window, and above Francesco in a 2 beautiful picture that shows the top of it,
3 one of Boston's premiere office buildings, 53
4 State Street, also is still known as Exchange 5 Place; is it? Exchange Place. And then 125
6 High Street, a couple of blocks away. We took 7 that into our ownership there. We took that 8 into our direct holdings.

9 We also completed ten new private 10 equity co-investments, totaling $168 million.

11 Again, all of these efforts saved
12 substantial fee dollars.

13 And on that note, Project SAVE Phase
14 I, the original initiative which originally 15 targeted $100 million in annualized fee
16 savings, is now up -- fee and value added 17 activities, now has realized approximately 18 193 million in annualized value, which is 19 substantial.

20 Welcome, Treasurer.

21 (Treasurer Goldberg arrives - 9:53 a.m.)

22 MR. TROTSKY: Which is substantial 23 considering that our entire cost structure is 24 400 million or so a year.

1           PRIM was nominated for the Plan of the 2 Year Award for an unprecedented fourth year in 3 a row by Institutional Investment Magazine.
4 No other plan has been nominated more than 5 once, as far as I can tell, and we are 6 nominated for an unprecedented fourth year in 7 a row by Institutional Investor Magazine.

8           We have been recognized for adopting 9 the CFA Institute's global investment
10 performance standards. Those are the GIPS 11 standards of integrity and transparency. And 12 PRIM is now one of only a handful of large 13 public pension plans to comply with GIPS and 14 it's the worldwide performance reporting 15 standard.

16           We generally require our investment
17 managers to comply with GIPS and now we can 18 say that we're compliant as well. Again, one 19 of only a handful around the country.

20           Bill Li, in the back of the room, was 21 inducted into the EQ Derivatives Investment
22 Hall of Fame, which recognizes individuals 23 that have led the line in volatility and 24 alternative risk premia thought leadership

1 this year. Congratulations.

2 Next to him, I have to say it, I don't 3 really want to, but for the second year in a 4 row -- and you deserve it, Eric -- Eric
5 Nierenberg has been listed on Institutional
6 Investor's Most Wanted Allocators List. This 7 is the global top 50 list of allocators they 8 deem as most coveted for potential future 9 chief investment officer roles.
10 Congratulations to you.

11 We recruited and onboarded six new 12 full-time employees, promoted six new -- 13 promoted six staff members internally. No 14 senior level employees departed in fiscal year 15 2019.

16 And we implemented a very robust
17 diversity inclusion initiative, which I would 18 like to just walk through quickly, because 19 we're very proud of it. Admittedly, there's 20 still lots to do, but we're still 21 super-focused on it. So please allow me to 22 expand briefly.

23 First, five of the six new full-time 24 employees in fiscal 2019 are diverse in

1 regards to gender, race, or both. That's up
2 from four out of the six last year.

3 Welcome Michelle Whitham. Thank you
4 for joining. Michelle is on our admin and 5 audit committee and also on our compensation
6 committee.

7 Several high-level officers --
8 offers -- job offers to diverse candidates 9 were declined in the fiscal year. We got 10 them, basically, to the one yard line, but in 11 the end we lost them to the private sector, 12 usually for much higher pay. In most cases, 13 these diverse employees have several competing
14 offers.

15 As I previously described, it is very 16 competitive right now for diverse employees in 17 our industry, as each company in the 18 investment and management industry is really 19 focused on that.

20 The entire fiscal year 2019 intern
21 staff -- that's eight interns -- are diverse 22 in regard to gender, race, or both.

23 And, again, retention presents a great 24 challenge in regard to diverse employees.

1 Diverse employees are disproportionately
2 recruited away by the private sector. And 3 during the past three fiscal years, 100 4 percent of our voluntarily departures from 5 PRIM were diverse employees, each of whom went 6 to the private sector.

7           Next, for all posted positions, PRIM
8 ensures that a full slate of highly qualified 9 diverse candidates are in the application pool 10 before we even engage in the evaluation 11 process.

12           During fiscal 2019 we created a hiring 13 playbook to formalize our hiring process and 14 this is a tool that ensures that PRIM has 15 diversity efforts incorporated into each and 16 every step of our recruitment process.

17           Included in this, job descriptions are 18 reviewed for biased language before posting 19 the jobs. Human resources works with the 20 hiring manager to create a recruitment
21 strategy for each and every specific position 22 tailored to that position. We have increased 23 our outreach to many diverse recruiting
24 resources, now contacting more than four times

1 as many affinity groups as we did last year.

2 We have developed core competencies
3 and critical skills charts for each of our 4 open positions to ensure fair and consistent 5 candidate evaluation. That's also to 6 eliminate bias.

7 We've developed interview tools that 8 will ensure candidates are being assessed 9 using the same -- the very same list of 10 questions at all stages of our interview
11 process.

12 Additionally, we've conducted 13 firm-wide diversity and inclusion training, 14 with a focus on unconscious bias behavior.
15 Everyone in the organization took this 16 training.

17 We created a working group to develop 18 and implement diversity improvement 19 initiatives. So we're working very hard at 20 that.

21 Internally and externally through my 22 work with the CFA Institute, I was invited to 23 be a founding member of the CFA Institute's 24 global diversity and inclusion advisory

1 committee, where my -- I am currently 2 assisting the CFA Institute with the 3 development of what we're calling a global 4 diversity and inclusion code of conduct. More 5 on that later. I'm very excited about this.

6 I attended and spoke at seven
7 different CFA conferences around the country
8 in the fiscal year on diversity and inclusion 9 initiatives. Seven of them.

10 Under the leadership of Treasurer
11 Goldberg, the PRIM board has adopted
12 progressive proxy voting guidelines on areas 13 such as board diversity requirements,
14 overboarding directors, gender pay gaps, labor 15 and human rights, and executive compensation, 16 just to name a few.

17 These proxy voting guidelines will 18 vote against all board nominees if less than 19 30 percent of the board -- less than 30 20 percent of the board -- is diverse in terms of 21 race and gender. And this resulted in PRIM
22 voting against nearly 68 percent of board
23 nominees in 2018 because of insufficient 24 diversity on its boards. I think we're making

1 a difference.

2 The PRIT fund now invests more than 3 $2.5 billion in women or minority-owned
4 investment managers. It's a little known 5 fact, but it's true, $2.5 billion.

6 And for all procurements, PRIM has 7 developed a formal process to review the 8 directory of certified businesses maintained
9 by Massachusetts Diversity Office, the MDO,
10 for suitability. The directory includes all 11 registered minority women, LGBTQ, veteran and 12 disability-owned companies.

13 So thank you for listening to that.
14 We're very busy in this regard.

15 Overall it was a remarkably productive
16 year. I thank the entire staff and the board 17 for your support and hard work and dedication 18 on all these efforts.

19 I'll stop there. That's the 20 organizational update. I'll take any 21 questions on that before turning to markets 22 and PRIT performance, which we talked about at 23 great length at the investment committee.

24 MR. BROUSSEAU: Michael, getting

1 back to the diversity issue.

2 I know you told us that we get 3 hundreds of applicants for every position that 4 we try to hire here, and I know that we have 5 made great strides, but I know we have -- we 6 still have a far way to go, I think, to -- I 7 mean, to be fully diverse in all areas.

8 Do you see our compensation as being 9 an issue with a lot of the candidates that 10 might take a job here -- diverse candidates?

11 Is our compensation package adequate?
12 Or do you feel that -- I know the -- I'm on 13 the compensation committee. Michelle is -- 14 she's the chair.

15 Is this something we have to look at?
16 I know the treasurer is on it. There are five 17 of us on it.

18 Did I miss one? Pat. Patrick is on 19 it.

20 What about this compensation issue?

21 Also the other one, two and a half
22 billion dollars is a good chunk of money, out 23 of 75 billion, but I think we have a long way 24 to go.

1           How difficult is it going to be to 2 move in that direction?

3           MR. TROTSKY: We do -- in the 4 offers that were extended to the employees -- 5 to the candidates, we really did get to the 6 last yard, and in each case, I believe very 7 strongly that the candidate really wanted to 8 come here. They liked the work. They liked 9 the people. They felt comfortable. Because 10 we now have these candidates meet the other 11 diverse employees here and we spend a lot of 12 time making sure they feel comfortable and 13 welcome.

14           And correct me if I'm wrong, anyone, 15 but I don't think that, culturally, was the 16 issue. We're working very, very hard on that.

17           In the end, we do, you know, when they 18 decline us, we call them and we ask them as 19 many questions as they'll allow. And in all 20 the cases, I would say it was private sector 21 pay that led to the final decision.

22           And one female candidate, for example, 23 she signed all the acceptance letters and we 24 were planning for her arrival, but her current

1 employer just countered big-time, and it was 2 impossible to compete.

3           Having said that, I'm very thankful 4 that the compensation structure has come a 5 long way. I don't think compensation is 6 always the factor. But for diverse
7 candidates, it is very, very competitive right 8 now and many of them are receiving multiple 9 offers.

10           I've traveled around the country.
11 I've traveled and met with C-suite executives
12 in the Boston area. And there's good news
13 here in that for the first time in my career, 14 this problem is being addressed at the C-suite 15 level, meaning that companies are serious 16 about increasing diversity of all types in 17 their companies, and that's the good news.
18 It's a great time for the industry.

19           However, it makes recruiting those 20 candidates a little difficult.

21           Just as a reminder, as a -- it's 22 important to know that the CFA is one of the 23 leading credentials. Only 17 percent of CFAs 24 are women right now -- 17 or 19, is that

1 right, Dave? It's pretty small.

2 MR. GURTZ: Right.

3 MR. TROTSKY: That's why it's a
4 huge -- it's a huge focus for the CFA
5 Institute.

6 The current chair of the board, Diane 7 Nordin, who worked on some projects here many 8 years ago, is a Wellington executive, retired.
9 I'm very close to Diane. I served on the 10 board at the CFA Institute with her. She's 11 the current chair. And the CFA just hired a 12 female CEO, Marg Franklin, who will take over 13 in a month or so.

14 So my work with them continues, and I
15 think it's -- it's encouraging that this work
16 is -- has reached the C-suite level, but I'm 17 not sure --

18 MR. BROUSSEAU: Let me just ask 19 a follow-up question.

20 You have contact with CFA with 21 all the other large public pension funds in 22 this country. Are they having the same 23 problem in terms of the diversity issue, not 24 only in hiring staff but also in placing money

1 and investments with minority and diverse 2 firms?

3 MR. TROTSKY: Yes.

4 MR. BROUSSEAU: So we're not 5 unique.

6 MR. TROTSKY: We're not unique.

7 MR. BROUSSEAU: Are they doing 8 the same kinds of outreach that we've been 9 doing and again falling short because of the 10 private sector and money?

11 MR. TROTSKY: Yes. I would say
12 it's very, very competitive in the pension 13 world and in the investment management 14 industry in general.

15 MS. GOLDBERG: So I want to 16 comment on this, please.

17 Number one, it's a catch-22. If 18 you're a diverse candidate and you look at the 19 upper levels of management and you see only 20 white males, although you may be heavily 21 recruited and feel as though there's an 22 opportunity for breakthrough, you still feel 23 -- then money becomes more important.

24 Look around this room. We have a lot

1 of public servants here, who want to be at 2 this fund for all sorts of reasons, that 3 overcome the compensation comparison issues.

4 So we're sort of stuck in a catch-22
5 right now, because if you study
6 decision-making done by women, and diverse
7 women, and other people of color, they want a 8 cohort, and the cohort being at their level of 9 management, not the admins or others.

10 And so we -- what happens is, with a 11 lot of these organizations who are very 12 well-meaning and intentional, it's still hard 13 to break through.

14 I think that we need to start thinking 15 outside the box on this one and try some new 16 strategies.

17 When I was out at the National 18 Institute of Public Finance in July, one of 19 the things that really was a problem for me -- 20 and I will be able to influence that within 21 the coming year -- is that there were three 22 tracks. There's treasury management. There's 23 a cash track and banking. And then there is 24 investment and pensions.

1           The other two had plenty of women.

2           The investment and pensions one, the 3 presentations were made by mainly men, 4 although there were plenty of women in the 5 sessions as attendees.

6           I intend to lay down a friendly 7 persuasion approach with all of the 8 participants from the corporate side that if 9 they want to participate in this Institute of 10 Public Finance, they need to send their women 11 and people of color to do the presentations.

12           The problem is the same thing is being 13 repeated over and over. And there may only be 14 17 percent of the women or people of color who 15 are CFAs, but it's because the industry 16 overall looks unfriendly.

17           And so I'm going to be putting a 18 lot -- I will be in a position of being 19 president of the National Association of State 20 Treasurers and the planning person for the 21 Institute.

22           And so, consequently, I plan to be 23 using that leverage to create greater impact, 24 because if we don't start breaking down these

1 barriers with some new ideas -- and I just 2 pulled this out of The Globe this morning
3 about Berkshire Bank and what they're trying 4 to do -- then we're -- it's never going to 5 happen. Because if you don't -- you've got to 6 get the right signals out there.

7           The second thing about our two and a 8 half billion dollar investment, we need to 9 think through how -- I have amazing people who 10 don't have a track record together who 11 approach me and are women and people of color 12 who have been highly successful in firms that 13 were mainly men and they were the one woman, 14 but they did not want to be the one woman 15 anymore. So they go and they find other like 16 women and create a firm. They don't have a 17 track record for us.

18           So in the same way -- so it's a 19 risk -- it's a higher risk factor for us.

20           In the same way that we're studying 21 ESG and creating ways of testing it, I think 22 that we need to be also looking at how -- if 23 Mass PRIM is not going to look at women who 24 are creating funds here in Boston and in

1 Massachusetts because they don't have a track 2 record, how do we, perhaps, find a way to work 3 with them?

4 Because again, Massachusetts, in terms
5 of these women being successful, is way below
6 places like California. And so I am also -- I 7 also want to use my contacts and my leverage 8 with others throughout the country on what are 9 they doing in order to -- whether it's using 10 Texas teachers and Ash Williams in Florida -- 11 what are they doing in this space. So -- 12 because those are the folks I did the ESG 13 panel with and they're also confronting it.

14 And because also -- Texas Teachers, 15 how many of those teachers are women? They 16 want to see women succeed.

17 So we're in a really odd place in the 18 world. We have a government that's going away 19 from a lot of initiatives -- a federal 20 government going away from some of the 21 initiatives that we have seen, now hearing
22 that we don't have pay and equity. Surprise
23 to me. And that's going to be another fake 24 news is pay and equity is fake news. I'm now

1 getting those posts on my Facebook page when I 2 post things.

3 And at the same time, we have more and 4 more companies, banks, investment banks who 5 are understanding that for them to be 6 financially successful, they need to be 7 working with more a diverse population.

8 So there's a lot of incongruities, and 9 we're going to continue to work with you all.
10 I'm trying to think outside the box.

11 The one suggestion -- I remember I
12 said this to you five and a half years ago -- 13 I really wonder out loud if there's a role in 14 me trying to also be speaking with some of the 15 people who are looking to come here, so that 16 they can hear straight out that this is the 17 real deal.

18 When you talk about women and women
19 communicating, sometimes it's better to hear 20 it from a woman. And they're not sitting in 21 these meetings where they can see Ruth Ellen 22 and Carly and me and Michelle and Sue and my 23 team sitting here. They're not sitting in 24 meetings. They're sitting in meetings that

1 are here without any of us. And so I think 2 visually, it helps to see those kind of 3 things. Maybe invite recruits to a board
4 meeting.

5 So that's -- it's just ideas that I 6 have.

7 MR. TROTSKY: There is one here
8 today.

9 MS. GOLDBERG: Oh. Okay. So 10 should we have lunch after?

11 UNIDENTIFIED SPEAKER: I'd love 12 to.

13 MS. GOLDBERG: So what I'm 14 saying is that there's really -- that's the 15 point. There's real intention. This is not 16 blah, blah, blah, blah, blah.

17 But we have a catch-22 we have to 18 overcome. So this is not without Michael's 19 trying. That's the important point of all 20 this that I'm trying to make.

21 MR. TROTSKY: We're trying hard.
22 We realize we have a long way to go.

23 MS. GOLDBERG: Right.

24 MR. MONACO: Can I make a

1 comment?

2 MS. GOLDBERG: Absolutely.

3 MR. MONACO: So PRIM's diversity
4 initiatives are, obviously, laudable. We 5 should seek the greatest amount of diversity 6 we can achieve up, down, all around.

7 Every organization should reflect 8 fully the constituencies that it serves.

9 Correct me if I'm wrong, though,
10 Michael, it's very important to underscore 11 that the award of that two and a half billion 12 mandate was not a function of the profile of 13 the controlling stakeholders of those 14 management firms. It was a function of those 15 firms having been identified as the best to 16 serve PRIM's mandate --

17 MS. GOLDBERG: Right.

18 MR. MONACO: -- at the time we 19 were seeking it.

20 And as we enhance and further our 21 efforts, as we're doing with ESG, it's just 22 very important to underscore that our 23 fiduciary responsibility to our stakeholders 24 should trump everything.

1 MS. GOLDBERG: You're restating
2 what I was actually was trying to articulate.

3 I think that the problem is that we 4 haven't done the kind of study we're doing
5 around ESG on diversity investments, and there 6 are more people out there. We just -- we also 7 have a limitation when it comes to our 8 investment strategy.

9 One of the things that -- when we were 10 trying to reduce investment and equities, some 11 of the people who were coming our way were 12 equities, and so we were not placing more 13 money into our equity pool. And so we have 14 been doing that balance.

15 But as time passes, we're getting -- 16 there are more and more successful people.
17 And that's one of the reasons I am intending 18 to have a lot of the corporate affiliates 19 begin to understand that they have a role, 20 besides just having successful women in their 21 organization, of getting the women out there 22 and helping get it out to the world that this 23 is a good space to be working in, because a 24 lot of women are still avoiding that and

1 finding -- and if you start looking 2 statistically, a lot of them are more 3 entrepreneurs.

4 Even if you look at cohorts coming out
5 of Harvard Business School. They'll start off 6 in investment banks, they'll start off in 7 firms, and then split out because they feel as 8 though they're never going to get above a 9 certain point.

10 And so what I'm trying to do is 11 convince them, stay the track, then we will 12 have firms that we can look at that have women 13 partners, because -- so there's all sorts of 14 touch points.

15 And I don't think, Peter, you and I 16 are saying anything any differently. I just 17 am trying to work all the angles to keep 18 people engaged and send the right signals to 19 people.

20 And so that's part of the strategy,
21 and that's why I'm saying, in my role in this 22 coming year, I will have a lot of leverage to 23 do that and keep it moving.

24 The corporate affiliates very much

1 want to participate in the National Institute 2 because, candidly, their potential clients are 3 the ones attending.

4 And so they don't want to be -- 5 they're very cooperative, let's put it that 6 way. They just need someone to make this 7 point nicely. And you know I always do 8 everything with a smile.

9 MR. TROTSKY: Peter, just one
10 interesting little fact: Of the managers that 11 we've hired, there are more than a couple that 12 will not allow us to identify them as minority 13 or women-owned. We know they are and we've 14 identified them, but they won't allow us to 15 publicize it that way. They want to be known 16 for being hired on their own merits rather 17 than anything else, I surmise. That's what I 18 surmise.

19 MS. GOLDBERG: Okay. Are you
20 going to be doing the whole...

21 MR. TROTSKY: I could go quickly 22 through markets, whatever is the board's 23 pleasure.

24 MS. GOLDBERG: So let's see.

1 Has everyone -- Dennis, you were on the phone,
2 Dennis, for a few of the meetings, weren't 3 you?

4 MR. NAUGHTON: Just one.

5 MS. GOLDBERG: Admin and audit.

6 MR. NAUGHTON: No, I was here
7 for admin and audit.

8 MS. GOLDBERG: Sorry.

9 MR. NAUGHTON: I was here for 10 administration and audit.

11 MS. GOLDBERG: Right, but you 12 weren't on the phone for the investment 13 meeting.

14 MR. NAUGHTON: No.

15 MR. TROTSKY: It's sometimes 16 nice -- I'll just give you a pro. Sometimes 17 it's nice to have it transcribed and entered 18 into the --

19 MS. GOLDBERG: That's right. I 20 forgot about this.

21 MR. TROTSKY: Other committee
22 meetings don't do that. It's just a pro of 23 it.

24 I'll try to go quickly.

1 MS. GOLDBERG: I got it. Sorry.

2 MR. TROTSKY: I'll go quickly.

3 Fiscal 2019, the PRIT fund assets grew
4 to nearly 75 billion, despite a challenging
5 market marked by extreme volatility, 6 heightened geopolitical tensions, and 7 deteriorating global economic conditions.

8 The year included sharp sell-offs in 9 equity markets followed by historic 10 snap-backs.

11 For example, the month of December 12 2018 was the worst month since 1931, with the 13 S&P falling more than 6 percent.

14 The December quarter, the fourth
15 calendar quarter of the calendar year, 2018, 16 was the weakest in many years, with the S&P
17 falling nearly 14 percent, and the NASDAQ 18 falling 17 percent. Global markets were even 19 weaker, but that weakness, as you know, did 20 not last long.

21 In March 2019, the first calendar 22 quarter of the year, markets posted the 23 strongest snap-back in more than 20 years, 24 with the S&P 500 gaining more than 13 percent.

1 For the first half of calendar year through 2 June, the S&P was up more than 17 percent; 17
3 percent, first half return for the S&P 500.
4 That was the best first half calendar year
5 performance since 1997.

6 In the month of June alone, the S&P
7 was up nearly 7 percent. That was the best
8 June on record since 1955.

9 Global markets were weaker then in the 10 US. And remember, the PRIT fund is exposed 11 not only to the higher performing US markets 12 but to most other markets around the world.

13 The environment -- this environment of 14 extreme swings, it's difficult for all 15 managers, money managers, and for a fund the 16 size of PRIT, it makes tracking our target 17 asset allocation very difficult.

18 The PRIT funds trailing three-, five-, 19 and ten-year returns remain strong in both the 20 relative and absolute basis, as was the fiscal 21 2019 return. But the fiscal 2019 return was 22 slightly weaker than the 10 percent return we 23 achieved in 2018 and the fiscal 2019 return 24 lagged the benchmark slightly.

1           More than half of the fiscal year
2 slight underperformance was due to the extreme 3 volatility of the markets and the fact that 4 our actual asset allocation diverged from our 5 target allocation on which the benchmark is 6 derived.

7           The target allocation, as you are well 8 aware, is comprised of an increasing
9 allocation of high-performing illiquid
10 alternatives, such as private equity, private 11 real estate. It takes some time to identify 12 worthy managers, funds and investment in those 13 areas. And on average, for the fiscal year, 14 we were underweight -- relative to our target 15 and relative to our benchmark, we were 16 underweight in those high-performing asset
17 classes, and, actually, as a result 18 overweight, more modestly performing global 19 equities.

20           I suppose the good news is we're still 21 continuing to move assets into those 22 high-performing areas, private equity and 23 private real estate. It just takes some time.

24           So, again, the majority of the 1 underperformance was due to what we call

2 actual- versus target-weight divergence 3 effect, being unable to precisely match the 4 actual PRIT fund assets to the target
5 allocation of illiquid alternative 6 investments.

7           Again, the PRIT fund benchmark is 8 based on our target asset allocation, not on 9 the actual allocation.

10           The other smaller contributor to 11 underperformance to the one-year benchmark 12 was due to weakness in a few specific 13 strategies that we will review later today, 14 such as insurance and agriculture. Those are 15 classified in the real assets bucket. Real 16 estate and private debt, and we'll talk to 17 you a bit more about those particular areas.

18           We understand the reasons for this 19 underperformance, and we have taken -- 20 already taken necessary steps to address 21 these underperforming areas. We believe many 22 of them are unique and temporary events, and 23 you will hear more about those specific areas 24 again today.

1           So since the end of last year in the 2 December 2018 sell-off, not much has really 3 changed on the economic front, except for the 4 fact that worldwide central banks, including 5 the US Federal Reserve Bank, have shifted to 6 an accommodative stance, meaning they're 7 lowering interest rates. Our US Fed lowered 8 interest rates earlier this month.

9           Essentially, worldwide economies
10 continue to slow, and geopolitical tensions 11 continue to grow. We read about that every 12 day in the newspaper.

13           Yet, during the first half of this 14 calendar year, US and international markets 15 were very strong -- historically strong in the 16 case of the US markets, as I have just 17 described.

18           Two weeks ago at the investment 19 committee meeting, we spoke about several 20 reasons to remain cautious. And in summary, 21 we spoke at length about a disconnect or a 22 mismatch.

23           Investment committee member and 24 resident economist Connie Everson even said,

1 and she wrote in one of her most recent 2 economic bulletins that -- and I want to quote
3 this: "There is a remarkable divergence
4 between economic sentiment and expectations
5 versus actual economic performance."

6 We discussed economic indicators, such 7 as the slowing GDP growth in the US, the 8 contraction in Germany, the slow-downs in the 9 rest of the world, most recently in the UK, 10 and a spin -- she called it a spin -- on even 11 our own domestic economic data. Retail sales, 12 the labor market, manufacturing and housing, 13 for example, are not as strong as some reports 14 might have you believe.

15 And at the investment committee we 16 asked the rhetorical question: Where did that 17 global economy go?

18 It was only a year ago or so when we 19 were talking about a worldwide synchronized
20 expansion. The US had an aspirational 21 4 percent US GDP growth target. And not very 22 long ago, our own Fed was tightening.

23 Today the ten-year bond is strikingly
24 at 1.65 percent versus approximately 3 percent

1 a year ago. This is not a sign that bond
2 investors or investors in general are bullish
3 about future growth. The synchronized global 4 expansion that we were talking about a year or 5 so ago did not materialize, and today the 6 picture is quite different.

7 Global dollar liquidity is very tight.
8 The stock markets returns have been very 9 narrow, with a relatively small group of 10 shares in one country, ours, receiving the 11 bulk of the inflows, and corporate earnings
12 for Q2 are down about 1 percent year-over-year 13 with approximately 90 percent of companies in 14 the S&P 500 reporting. This is the first time 15 in three years when we've had two straight 16 quarters of earnings decline, year-over-year 17 earnings declines.

18 With the stock market up so much in 19 the first half, this means that equity 20 valuations are higher. In fact, the 21 twelve-month forward price-to-earnings ratio 22 is nearly 17. That's above the five- and 23 ten-year average.

24 These, of course, are all late cycle

1 phenomenon. And to me, as I mentioned at the 2 investment committee, the market strength this 3 year seems like it's a strong case of the 4 "Don't fight the Fed" mentality where 5 investors are confident that central banks
6 will be able to stave off the continued 7 slow-down. But will they? Only time will 8 really tell.

9 August has been much more challenging, 10 as you know. And as we discussed at the 11 investment committee meeting, lowering 12 interest rates may not even be that effective 13 in the end.

14 After all, rates have been low for a 15 very long time; negative, in fact, in some 16 countries. But housing in the worldwide 17 economy is not that hot and it doesn't seem to 18 be improving.

19 All of that still means that we are 20 very comfortable with our current asset
21 allocation and believe it will serve us well 22 over the coming fiscal year.

23 Remember that over the past several 24 years, we've been de-risking the portfolio.

1 We may have been a little early in that 2 regard, de-risking the portfolio, but there's 3 still plenty to be concerned about.

4 Connie even mentioned at the 5 investment committee that she believes there
6 is a greater than 50 percent chance of a
7 recession in the next twelve months. I
8 believe Goldman Sachs also has increased their 9 odds of a recession.

10 And I'll leave it there.
11 I know Michael Even made the trip here today 12 to specifically address some of these points, 13 and I'll offer the floor to you for a couple 14 of minutes if you want.

15 MR. EVEN: Thanks, Mike. Should 16 I sit up or --

17 MS. GOLDBERG: Yes, please.

18 So, Mike sent me a very well-reasoned 19 comment that I read into the minutes at the 20 investment committee meeting. And I suggested 21 that he come today, because I think it's 22 important for him to articulate how he's -- 23 what his observations are, which I also concur 24 with.

1           So, Mike, I wanted to give you that 2 opportunity.

3           MR. EVEN: Thank you very much.
4 So I'm Mike Even. I'm a member of the 5 investment committee.

6           And for the last couple of years, I
7 guess it's been now, I've been spending a lot 8 of time here. Mike was kind enough to give me
9 an office here. I spend about a day a week
10 here on the average. So --

11          MS. GOLDBERG: Why don't you 12 mention what your background was prior to 13 that.

14          MR. EVEN: I was CEO of a firm 15 in Boston called Numeric Investors, which I 16 sold to Man Group about five years ago. And 17 before that, I was involved with CitiGroup. I 18 ran their asset management group at CitiGroup.

19          MR. TROTSKY: He's very modest.
20 What were the assets at CitiGroup?

21          MR. EVEN: About 600 billion in 22 assets. A very -- a diverse platform.

23          MS. GOLDBERG: Michael has also 24 been very involved in Project SAVE, too.

1                   MR. EVEN: Yes, yes, which I 2 love.

3                   So because I missed the investment
4 committee meeting, I made basically three 5 comments in my note.

6                   It was prompted by the fact that, even 7 though I've been involved for a long time,
8 this is really, I think, the first time I can 9 recall that we're below our benchmark.

10                  So we've had an amazing run. Probably 11 a lot of it skill. Probably a lot of it was 12 luck. You always expect to be a little under 13 water.

14                  So I basically made three comments.

15                  The first was that I saw no reason to 16 panic. I think that this was partially the 17 way Mike just explained it.

18                  It's partially the fact that, I don't 19 know about the board, but the investment 20 committee has been very supportive of trying 21 to de-risk a little bit, given the great 22 performance we've had and how good the markets 23 were doing.

24                  So given how bullish the markets have

1 remained, despite our efforts to stifle, 2 slightly at least, de-risk, this is to be 3 expected. So that was my most important
4 point, probably. This is part of it.

5           The second part of my note was that a 6 lot of -- at least some of the 7 underperformance was due to the fact that 8 we're trying to be very innovative and very 9 experimental with some of the things around 10 the margin of what we're doing. And some of 11 those things did not work out well in the 12 recent history, and I wanted to make sure 13 that, at least in my opinion, that's okay.

14           That's what happens with when you try 15 to be innovative. Some things work. Some 16 things don't. As long as you learn from them 17 and as long as you haven't been committing too 18 much to them, which we haven't, it's been 19 good. And that's exactly what's happening. I 20 tried to be very, very direct about 21 encouraging further innovation and not letting 22 this discourage us in any way.

23           My final point is partially a reaction 24 to -- Mike has touched upon this -- partially

1 a reaction to being here as often as I have 2 been, which is we're running an incredibly 3 successful portfolio, which has done a lot of 4 interesting things with really, really very 5 efficient staff, to put it in a positive 6 sense.

7 To put it a bit more negatively, I
8 would love to see us staff up more, to do more 9 of what we're doing with more staff and to 10 give us a chance to give the current staff a 11 chance to do some things other than the 12 day-to-day management of what they're doing, 13 to be more innovative.

14 So my third point in my note was to be 15 very encouraging about that, both to the 16 investment committee and to the extent I can 17 with the board, and to also recognize that it 18 takes a long time, particularly because we are 19 trying to meet these diversity goals which I 20 think are very worthwhile.

21 The hiring process is difficult and it 22 takes a long time, and we have to be very 23 careful.

24 So I was -- it was a very positive

1 note. I feel very good about my relationship
2 with PRIM because I'm very proud of what PRIM 3 is accomplishing.

4 And again, my incentive for writing
5 the note, besides the fact that I missed the 6 meeting, was that I wanted to be clear that 7 even though we had a slightly off performance, 8 I didn't -- I personally was not in the least 9 bit worried about it and I even saw it as very 10 much a continuation of what we were trying to 11 do to move on.

12 That's it.

13 MR. TROTSKY: Thank you.

14 MR. EVEN: Thank you very much
15 for your time.

16 MS. GOLDBERG: Thank you,
17 Michael.

18 MR. TROTSKY: Thanks, Mike.

19 Just a couple more minutes on this and 20 then we can move on.

21 But just to recap, noteworthy, fiscal 22 2019 was a very weak first half in the 23 markets, followed by that very strong,
24 historic second half.

1           To bring you more up to date, July was 2 kind of flat in the markets. US markets were 3 up very slightly. Equity markets were up very 4 slightly. And bonds were about flat.

5           August so far, and we're only 13 days 6 into August, hasn't been so good. The S&P is 7 down more than 3 percent. Developed 8 international markets are down 3 percent.
9 Emerging markets are down 6 percent. And very 10 surprisingly, as I mentioned before, bonds are 11 strong. Bonds being strong is a defensive 12 late-cycle phenomenon.

13           Long bonds are, for the month of 14 August alone, STRIPS are up 11 1/2 percent.
15 And for the year, the calendar year to date, 16 2019, long bonds are up 28 percent.

17           So it's the -- it's staggering.
18 That's because the ten-year treasury has 19 essentially gone from 3 to 4.65.

20           So it's an unusual year. We're happy 21 we're conservatively positioned.

22           Please turn to page 3 in your 23 performance handout and I'll go through this 24 quickly.

1           The performance handout has some of 2 the charts and graphs.

3           You see for the one-year number, the 4 PRIT fund returned 6.1 percent growth, so 5 that's 5.7 net. Underperforming its 6 benchmark, as I mentioned. It's an investment 7 gain of $4.4 billion. Remember, 6 percent is 8 still positive, and it's a pretty good 9 positive given the environment. It's an 10 investment gain, again, of $4.4 billion, but 11 646 million below the one-year benchmark.

12           Longer term, the results are very 13 strong. You can see the three-year number up 14 9.8 percent; five years, 7 percent; ten years, 15 up 10 percent, and all time periods above the 16 benchmark.

17           Net outflows to pay benefits in the 18 fiscal year were approximately a billion
19 dollars. We do pay benefits out of this pool 20 of assets.

21           Page 4, you can see what did well on 22 the left, and you'll hear more about this 23 shortly.

24           Private Entity led the way, our

1 award-winning PE program led the way for the 2 one-year period, up 18 1/2 percent.

3 Fixed income with rates declining was 4 also a strong contributor. No one would have 5 predicted that last year.

6 And on the right, you can see what was 7 a little bit weaker.

8 I'll end there and take any comments 9 on or questions on performance, but you will 10 be getting more detail from each asset class 11 head momentarily.

12 That concludes my --

13 MS. GOLDBERG: Any additional 14 questions for Michael?

15 Okay, then.

16 MS. GOLDBERG: Which do you want 17 to do first?

18 MR. BROUSSEAU: It doesn't make 19 any difference to me. It doesn't make a 20 difference, I don't think.

21 MS. GOLDBERG: Well, then,
22 sticking with what's the order of the agenda, 23 Bob, why don't you take it away on the 24 performance evaluation.

1 MR. BROUSSEAU: Okay. Thank you
2 very much, Madam Treasurer.

3 Michael, if I were you, I would take 4 the evaluation over the root canal today.
5 Okay. I think it's going to be less painful, 6 that's for sure.

7 MS. GOLDBERG: You have a root
8 canal today?

9 MR. TROTSKY: Yes. You missed
10 that.

11 MR. BROUSSEAU: You didn't know
12 that earlier, so I said the evaluation is 13 better than a root canal.

14 MS. GOLDBERG: I don't know. I 15 think it's going to be pretty even.

16 MR. TROTSKY: My sister is a 17 very good dentist.

18 MS. GOLDBERG: But she told me
19 this is her opportunity to get even with you.
20 We've chatted this morning.

21 MR. BROUSSEAU: Well, as you 22 know, we've all done -- been here before and 23 done this.

24 This is our annual process. As you

1 know, by state law that this board must 2 evaluate the executive director for his past 3 year's performance in an open session. And of 4 course, all the board members and even 5 committee members have been invited to 6 participate.

7 First of all, I would like to start by 8 thanking the board and the committee members
9 for participating. I think we had -- I 10 received eleven responses, either verbally or 11 especially e-mails which are very, very 12 helpful from, I think, six members of the 13 board I had communications with. And of 14 course, they are free this morning to speak 15 after I finish the coordination -- I'm going 16 to take what was sent to me and give you the 17 facts as I've seen them as they've been 18 related to me, and then you're free to make 19 your own comments.

20 I also would like to thank the board.
21 This is a shortened process. You had about 22 ten days, you received Michael's evaluation, 23 because of the way, you know, the year has 24 ended, fiscal year, and we are into August and

1 you received this at the investment committee
2 meeting or your appropriate committee meetings 3 and I asked that you get it back to me by the 4 9th. Just about all of you did get it to me
5 on the 9th. I think I had one on the 10th.
6 And I was able to put this together.

7 One member commented for the first 8 time that probably he or she was loathe to 9 respond because they were just a committee 10 member.

11 Let me tell you, don't ever feel 12 you're just a committee member. I found that 13 the committee members who work for this 14 organization, this board, bring a level of 15 expertise in helping this board do its mandate 16 for the beneficiaries in the state. And as a 17 board member, I thank them for their 18 participation, and their views are very, very 19 valuable.

20 You were provided with a discussion
21 guide. You did not have to participate.
22 There were 20 points on it, as a point of 23 reference, as you evaluated the executive 24 director, and you were encouraged to please

1 make it a point with Mike or when you see him, 2 go into the office, sit down, have a personal 3 conversation on issues that you feel should be 4 addressed or anything you want to say. And he 5 welcomes that, so that's also part of the 6 evaluation.

7 First of all, if I were to do his 8 evaluation today I would say, you know, maybe 9 I should ask -- should have asked Tony to get 10 the minutes of the 2018, the 2017, the 2016
11 minutes of Michael's evaluation and say, Okay, 12 here it is, let's approve them, because 13 basically it is the same this year as in 14 previous years. Okay?

15 We all know that there's always room
16 for improvement and that an organization like 17 ours -- and Michael knows that an 18 organization like this can become complacent 19 so you must work to have continual 20 improvement all the time. And I know Michael 21 has done that, and that came out in the 22 evaluation as people also look at what he has 23 accomplished.

24 I think a good example of that is we've heard references at committee meetings

1 and also today that, of course, we've had a 2 slight problem with the assets and the 3 benchmarking, that -- they will be working on it 4 and it is going to be corrected, that a slight 5 drop in our in the returns, but that will be 6 corrected because of a lot of our illiquid
7 assets, and benchmarks, catching up with them.

8 First of all, what is Michael's score?
9 Throughout this, in just about all the 10 evaluations, the one word that did stand out to 11 me was the word "outstanding." It's the same as 12 last year, "outstanding."

13 And I would say, if I was to give him a 14 score on his performance this past year, it is 15 outstanding.

16 First of all, here are some of the 17 attributes that some of you wrote in your 18 comments. These are in terms I agree with.

19 First of all, Michael is innovative.
20 He's creative. He's inclusive. He's 21 communicative. He's receptive to new ideas.
22 He's transparent. And he has been working to 23 expand PRIM and make it a diverse organization, 24 which as we know is very, very 1 important.

2           Having said that, I just wanted to 3 read some comments -- I want to read some 4 comments that some of you did give me in the 5 evaluations I received.

6           Here is one that says: "Michael is 7 doing an outstanding job as executive
8 director. Under Michael's leadership, PRIM 9 has been recognized by our peers and 10 institutional groups as one of the best public 11 funds in the country.

12           "Michael's put together a team that, 13 again, I consider one of the best in the 14 country. The interactions between the teams 15 is a credit to Mike's management style of 16 inclusion.

17           "The central theme of innovation is so 18 evident in the fund's continued success."

19           Another comment: "PRIM has benefited 20 from the low staff turn-over this year and has 21 made important additions to the staff.

22 Investment results within each category have 23 almost universally been good. I have been 24 very pleased with Michael Trotsky. He has

1    been fully transparent about the performance 2    deficiencies that were identified in the 3    results.

4                    "One of the major achievements in 5    recent years has been the rebuilding of the 6    private equity staff and the organization's 7    continued ability to successfully replace 8    those from the team that leave.  In my view, 9    we are still well understaffed in numbers of 10   people in private equity, although I've been 11   very pleased with those who have been there 12   and the quality of the new hires."

13                   Another comment:  "I have reviewed 14   Michael's self-assessment and performance 15   evaluation guide.  I believe that Michael has 16   performed at the outstanding level" -- there's 17   the word "outstanding" again -- "in 18   significantly all of the 20 categories 19   listed."

20                   "He continues to raise the monetary 21   value of the fund and, more importantly, has 22   improved the skill levels and bench strength 23   of the whole organization."

24                   "The high morale and sense of purpose

1 of every one of the staff, from professionals 2 to administrative and support people, is very 3 evident to me in my visits to the office and 4 regular conversations with individuals there."

5 Other comments: "Michael has 6 continued to be successful in attracting and 7 retaining staff. He has continued to make 8 PRIM an attractive place to work in the very 9 challenging Boston investment community."

10 "As I stated in my evaluation comments
11 in 2018, the PRIM professional development 12 program and the continually updated
13 compensation system have been very important 14 in this. Michael's personal leadership style 15 has been a vital factor as well."

16 This person said: "Also, as an 17 individual board member, I always find Michael 18 accessible. He always has the time to listen 19 to any concern or thoughts and to follow 20 through on them."

21 Another comment: "Mr. Trotsky's 22 fiscal year performance was outstanding" -- 23 there's the word again -- "in all areas on the 24 guideline."

1           "Although a majority of my interaction
2 with ED is centered in another area, Michael 3 is open and forthcoming with market views and 4 strategy relevant to the overall portfolio,
5 which is very beneficial to our committee
6 thinking, insights, and ultimately influencing 7 our actions."

8           "Overall, he is excellent at 9 communication and his high level of integrity 10 and leadership is evident in all our 11 interactions. The accomplishments of the 12 staff are a reflection of his outstanding 13 leadership and vision."

14           "Again, I feel the Commonwealth is 15 very fortunate to have such a skilled,
16 thoughtful, and talented leader of PRIM."

17           Another one here said: "Michael is a 18 superb and thoughtful leader. He has 19 demonstrated the true grit of responsibility 20 and of leading PRIM. His connection to all 21 staff, and particularly the senior leadership, 22 is what keeps PRIM on track as the stellar, 23 high-profile public investing organization.
24 He is a leader on many levels in the industry,

1 the state, local boards, and most importantly 2 with staff."

3 "His encouragement and ability to 4 direct in a positive, supportive way with no 5 arrogance gives him an understanding of the 6 complex issues that all bring to PRIM and its 7 investment strategies."

8 Another that said: "I am writing to 9 reiterate, as I have stated in the years -- in 10 past years for the evaluation of Michael 11 Trotsky, Executive Director of PRIM, that we 12 are very lucky to have him in charge of our 13 funds. I have full confidence and trust in 14 his deep knowledge, expertise, innovation, and 15 leadership. The beneficiaries of the fund are 16 in good hands having Michael at the helm. He 17 has done a great job since he started at 18 PRIM."

19 Another comment: "During such 20 volatile times, risk management is key.
21 Michael's attention to risk management issues
22 with the replacement of staff in risk 23 management has been critical and important to 24 the security of the fund."

1           "The many awards PRIM and PRIM staff 2 received this year speaks volumes about 3 Michael's performance and his staff in 4 maintaining the high honors for the PRIM fund 5 among its peers."

6           Another comment, and I'm just about 7 finished -- I did want to read a lot of these 8 to you but some of them were very lengthy.

9           "I write to give an assessment for 10 Michael Trotsky's performance. His reluctance 11 to give in to complacency, with the great 12 historic returns achieved, and his key vision, 13 has pushed himself and his subordinates to 14 greater heights, all traits that separate him 15 to a great degree from his peers in the public 16 pension field."

17           "He has done creative work in keeping 18 the much-coveted talent there and not in the 19 offices of private asset management."

20           And finally, this is the last one I'm 21 going to read, for my final comments, came 22 from a person who works for the -- in a 23 committee structure, and it's very short and 24 to the point, but I think this summarizes the 1 feelings of all of us regarding Michael.

2 This person said: "Michael Trotsky's
3 performance has created for me a new higher 4 expectation of what outstanding performance 5 really means."

6 And I'd like to summarize now simply,
7 those are the comments that I received that I 8 thought were relevant to this evaluation.

9 The awards bestowed upon the PRIM
10 staff and the organization we know. PRIM is 11 recognized, as far as I'm concerned, as a 12 powerhouse in the public pension industry.

13 And, finally, Michael, you've been 14 with us since 2010. This is nine years. And 15 he is the longest serving executive director 16 that PRIM has had in its 35-year history.

17 MR. TROTSKY: I didn't know
18 that.

19 MR. BROUSSEAU: And I worked 20 with all of them in that time, but you are the 21 longest serving. You've been here nine years.

22 I'll tell you, I hope you don't have 23 any ideas of leaving us, because you are 24 definitely a keeper.

1 MS. GOLDBERG: He said something
2 about a succession plan recently.

3 MR. BROUSSEAU: We don't -- no,
4 no, no. Don't plant ideas.

5 MS. GOLDBERG: Didn't you say
6 that to me?

7 MR. TROTSKY: It's, you know, as 8 Mike Even pointed out, we are very lean, and 9 Michael actually thinks it's a strategic 10 vulnerability how lean we are.

11 MS. GOLDBERG: Yes.

12 MR. TROTSKY: And the idea of 13 succession planning applies to each and every 14 position --

15 MS. GOLDBERG: Okay.

16 MR. TROTSKY: -- at PRIM, and 17 I've encouraged staff to identify and hire 18 people who can take over in any group.

19 MS. GOLDBERG: Are you planning 20 my succession?

21 MR. TROTSKY: No.

22 MR. BROUSSEAU: Madam Treasurer,
23 that completes my report. But now I would 24 like, through you, if any members of the board

1 would like to speak or add to the comments I 2 have made.

3 As I said, it's obvious to me -- the 4 key term here was "outstanding" in the 5 performance of the past year.

6 And if any of the committee members
7 would like to say anything, it is welcome. I 8 think it should be read into the record if 9 they feel they want to make comments.

10 MS. GOLDBERG: Folks? Dennis?

11 MR. NAUGHTON: I have a comment.
12 It's kind of lengthy, so bear with me.

13 Please keep doing what you're doing.
14 Please don't leave.

15 MS. GOLDBERG: Could you repeat 16 that, because it was so long, the stenographer 17 did not get it.

18 MR. BROUSSEAU: Did you get it 19 down?

20 MS. GOLDBERG: Any others?

21 MS. ROSE: Ditto.

22 MS. FITCH: I'll second, third,
23 and fourth that motion.

24 MS. GOLDBERG: All right. Well,

1 then I don't have to say anything.

2 I think it's been very clear, as Bob 3 said, if you go back to comments made in prior 4 years, you could probably pull mine right out
5 and without reading it, I bet I would say 6 exactly the same thing.

7 Michael and I have worked very, very 8 well together. We have very open
9 communication. If -- if whatever you hear me 10 say in a meeting, whether it's about -- 11 particularly about diversity and inclusion and 12 the kind of efforts we have to make, we talk 13 about these things together all the time.

14 It is my understanding that I think 15 I'm the first treasurer that you have meetings 16 with privately all the time.

17 MR. TROTSKY: Uh-huh.

18 MS. GOLDBERG: So this is a very 19 positive working relationship. And so I'm not 20 throwing him a curve when I speak publicly on 21 how -- my opinions about things we need to do 22 or things that we can work on moving forward.
23 I think that, for me -- and it's why

24

1 I've been a strong proponent on increasing
2 compensation is -- did Michael Even leave?

3 Yes.

4 So he's always been e-mailing me about 5 that and then complimenting me on having 6 followed through, as have others.

7 We have to acknowledge and understand 8 the environment we operate in.

9 We have to acknowledge that we are 10 talking about basically a $75 billion fund 11 that has to continue growing. That is a big 12 fund.

13 For contrast, Rhode Island is 14 somewhere around 9 or 10 billion. Now I know 15 it's a small state. But these -- there are 16 lots of little funds.

17 We need top-notch people. And to have 18 top-notch people, you have to compensate well, 19 and that starts at the top and should go all 20 the way down to whomever is working here.

21 And I am the one who is willing to 22 stick their neck out, if I need to, on behalf 23 of the people who work here. I think that we 24 have an extraordinarily talented staff, and

1 our goal is merely to enhance it and give more 2 support in the areas that we need to.

3 MR. BROUSSEAU: It's very 4 evident in all the comments as well.

5 MS. GOLDBERG: Right.

6 MR. BROUSSEAU: The staff is 7 excellent.

8 MS. GOLDBERG: So I can only
9 become redundant if I keep on speaking.

10 And so, Michael, I hope we continue to 11 have the positive working relationship we do.
12 And congratulations on -- although -- on 13 another good year, in a very volatile external 14 environment.

15 MR. TROTSKY: Thank you.

16 MS. GOLDBERG: I have no idea
17 what next year is going to bring, but I 18 don't think it's going to be any better.

19 So, one of the things is that we have 20 to stay the course and continue with our very 21 strong risk analysis and our ability to 22 respond and evaluate and investigate whatever 23 variations in the market occur and add to our 24 great people to give them the support that

1 they need.

2 So with that --

3 MR. TROTSKY: Well, thank you so
4 much for your very kind and thoughtful 5 comments. And I have all the confidence in 6 the world that we will work cooperatively for 7 a very long time together with you and your 8 staff, your excellent staff.

9 Thank you, Bob, for your summary and 10 to the rest of the board and committee members 11 for your support and confidence.

12 Of course, I get all the accolades but 13 I do very little of the actual work. The only 14 reason that you can say nice things about me 15 is because we have an incredible staff here 16 that I and others have characterized as among 17 the best in the industry, whatever the 18 industry is.

19 And I would put this staff up against 20 any public pension plan and any private 21 investment management shop. I've worked in 22 the private sector. This staff is head and 23 shoulders above just about any place I've ever 24 worked.

1 better, but it's been a long process and I
2 appreciate your support, everyone.

3 Thank you.

4 MS. GOLDBERG: So we have a
5 voting item, and I'm going to seek a motion 6 and then we can talk about that, the goals and 7 objectives for the upcoming year.

8 So I would seek a motion that the PRIM
9 board approve the admin and audit committee's 10 recommendation to approve the executive 11 director's fiscal year 2020 goals and 12 objectives as contained in Appendix D of the 13 expanded agenda and, further, to authorize the 14 executive director to take all actions
15 necessary to effectuate this vote.

16 Is there a motion?

17 MR. BROUSSEAU: So moved.

18 MS. FITCH: Second.

19 MS. GOLDBERG: Discussion?

20 Go ahead.

21 MR. TROTSKY: I have just a 22 little summary.

23 The goals and objectives were really 24 approved at the admin and audit committee.

1 They're largely consistent with many of the 2 goals you've seen in the past years. And 3 copies are available outside, I believe, and 4 you can pick them up.

5 There are a few new things that I need 6 to highlight that are unique to this year.

7 The first is that we plan to hold 2020
8 board elections.

9 Paul and Bob, hopefully, will run
10 again for your seats. And it is incumbent 11 upon us to run those elections from PRIM.

12 We're planning to convene a 2020 PRIM
13 investor conference again this year. I think 14 we're in the final stages of picking a date
15 and a location for that. We'll be in touch 16 with that.

17 Every few years, we do a benchmark
18 review with the arrival of Jay Leu in risk 19 and his expertise in that area and some of the 20 issues we identified over the last fiscal 21 year. I think it's an excellent time to do 22 that.

23 Michael Even, as you just heard, is 24 very supportive, as is the entire investment

1 committee.

2           It's a good idea to do a benchmark
3 review every few years, and we'll be doing 4 that again this year.

5           Important to me is something I've 6 already mentioned, it's to lead the peer 7 private equity institutional limited partners.

8           In particular, if we can identify a 9 few like-minded public pension funds to really 10 increase some negotiating leverage when we 11 sign limited partner agreements. I think if 12 we can move the needle in some regard to give 13 the limited partners more rights and more
14 contractual power, I would love to accomplish 15 that. It's a big goal.

16           Then last, I will mention that it is a 17 goal of mine to continue to increase PRIM's 18 staff size. I think we are too lean for the 19 things we do here. And succession planning in 20 any organization is very, very important.

21           And in light of the increasing 22 sophistication of our investment strategies, 23 we need the talent in-house. But I want to 24 also be mindful not to hire people too quickly

1 and not to hire people that we can't 2 assimilate into the organization to have 3 productive as soon as possible.

4 So there's a fine balance between 5 finding the right people, finding enough 6 people, and hiring people too quickly to be 7 able to give them a fair chance to succeed.

8 So that's a fine line that we struggle
9 with here, but I'm confident we can increase 10 the depth of talent.

11 Then the annual plans are also part of 12 my goals and objectives.

13 We review those every -- at the 14 beginning of every calendar year, and they're 15 there for your review. I've received feedback 16 on very many of them. But they, of course, 17 are part of my fiscal year 2020 goals.

18 I'll take any questions and, of 19 course, if you want to provide any feedback on 20 any number of these initiatives, I'm available 21 and would love your feedback.

22 MS. GOLDBERG: Questions or 23 comments from the board?

24 Bob, are you -- you took a deep

1 breath. Are you --

2 MR. BROUSSEAU: I'm fine. The 3 admin and audit committee was unanimous in the 4 goals and objectives.

5 MS. GOLDBERG: We have a motion.
6 We have a second.

7 All those in favor?

8 Any opposed?

9 (Unanimous vote.)

10 MS. GOLDBERG: Hearing none, the 11 motion carries.

12 Thank you.

13 All right. So now the investment 14 report, public markets.

15 Hello, David.

16 MR. GURTZ: Good morning.

17 So before we get into performance, 18 I'll be talking to Appendix B. But before we 19 get into performance, I'll just briefly
20 highlight our staffing issue in the public 21 market team, as it's been a hot topic this 22 morning.

23 We're continuing to interview folks
24 for multiple positions on the team,

1 specifically a new position on the team is a
2 senior investment officer position.

3 We've held and continue to hold many 4 interviews, but I'm hoping that we're going to 5 find somebody in the next coming month or two.
6 So, hopefully by the next meeting, we'll have 7 introductions of talent.

8 So on to performance.

9 Again, referring to Appendix B, I'm 10 going to start on page 6.

11 As Michael noted earlier, the markets
12 were extremely volatile this year. However, 13 if you look at page 6, the one-year returns of 14 every asset class ended up positive for the 15 year, gross of fees, something we haven't seen 16 in five board meetings. So the market moved a 17 lot, but all positive by the end of the year.

18 Looking at page 7, fiscal 2019
19 continued to trend in US equities,
20 outperforming, specifically large cap,
21 outperforming all other equity markets by a 22 wide margin.

23 In terms of relative performance, US
24 small and emerging markets are very strong,

1 while developing international equities
2 underperformed slightly.

3 In the US small cap space, we are 4 roughly 55 percent index to the Russell 2,500.
5 So the outperformance of our active managers 6 was proportionately greater than the 2.1
7 percent number that's shown on the green 8 chart.

9 All three of our US smalls
10 mid-managers outperformed, but two in 11 particular, Summit Creek and Riverbridge, were 12 very strong this year.

13 Summit Creek outperformed by 9 percent 14 net of fees, and Riverbridge outperformed by 15 10.3 percent net of fees. So very strong 16 performances this year.

17 In emerging markets, we're 100 percent
18 active and we outperformed by 1.5 percent 19 gross of fees, or .9 percent net of fees for 20 the year.

21 Baillie Gifford was our best
22 performing manager this one-year period,
23 outperforming by 7 percent net of fees.
24 Baillie Gifford was particularly strong in the 1 financial sector, accounting for more than 2 half of the performance.

3 Looking at our core emerging market
4 managers as a group, they did all perform well
5 because they were underweight China by 6 6 percent. China represents about a third of 7 the benchmark in that sub-asset class. China
8 underperformed the EM benchmark by nearly 8 9 percent this past one year.

10 They also did well in Russia and 11 Brazil. Both of those countries had 12 outstanding returns this one-year time period.

13 Russia was up 27 percent and Brazil
14 was up 39 percent for the year, respectively.

15 In international equities we 16 underperformed slightly by .2 percent -- or .4
17 percent net of fees. Here we are 40 percent 18 indexed.

19 Our best performing manager for the 20 one year was a firm named Mondrian. Mondrian 21 outperformed by 2.7 percent net of fees, 22 focusing on defensive, high-dividend paying 23 companies like utilities, which was their best 24 performing sector.

1           Another manager, Marathon, has had a
2 tremendous long-term track record with PRIM;
3 over 20 years now. And they have performed
4 annualized over 3 percent net of fees for us
5 over that long-time period.

6           However, over this one-year time
7 period, they were the worst performing manager 8 in the international markets. They 9 underperformed by 2.4 percent net of fees, due 10 in part to an overweight to the United 11 Kingdom.

12           Andre Clapp and I will be traveling to 13 London in the next couple of weeks. And we're 14 going to be focusing and visiting a number of 15 managers, but focusing on those managers and 16 understanding how they're positioning the 17 portfolio, given the issue that's taking place 18 now. It will be interesting to see what their 19 thoughts are, given the changes over the last 20 couple of months.

21           Turning to page 8, fixed income.
22 While equities was unusual, fixed income was 23 equally unusual and in an even more volatile 24 year.

1           I say it was unusual. A year in fixed 2 income markets where yields fell but credit
3 spreads barely moved, thereby creating a bit
4 of a Goldilocks environment for fixed income
5 securities, and that resulted in core fixed 6 income being the second best asset class
7 behind private equity and value added fixed 8 income being the third best performing asset
9 class. Again, just a bit of an unusual year 10 all around.

11           As you can see on page 8, the best 12 performing fixed income portfolio for the 13 one-year was the STRIPS portfolio. The 14 thirty-year yields fell nearly 50 basis point 15 during the year, resulting in that 14 percent 16 return.

17           Tighter spreads and falling yields 18 contributed to stronger returns in emerging 19 market bonds for the one-year period.

20           Emerging markets, dollar-denominated 21 managers performed well, thanks in part to 22 overweight in Latin America.

23           Local currency managers continue to 24 underperform the benchmark, but we continue to

1 reduce our exposure to this asset class, and 2 it's currently less than a half a percent of 3 the PRIT fund.

4 The five- and ten-year yields fell 97
5 and 85 basis, respectively, during the year, 6 while credit spreads barely moved for 7 investment grade fixed income securities and 8 widened only 43 basis points for high yield.

9 This resulted in, again, an unusual
10 year where the AGG outperformed high yield, 11 both returning about 8 percent, and active 12 managers adding a little bit of value.

13 So I'll pause there and see if there's 14 any questions.

15 MS. GOLDBERG: Peter?

16 MR. MONACO: The STRIPS
17 portfolio, Dave, I think the last time rates 18 were at this level at the long end, we 19 actually reduced there.

20 Are we going to do that again? Or 21 does the insurance quality of this investment 22 argue for holding onto it?

23 MR. GURTZ: At this point,
24 there's no plans to reduce it significantly

1 beyond its 3 percent weight beyond rebalancing
2 out of it, because it has performed
3 significantly better than the equity markets, 4 and it's best performing asset class we have 5 in the portfolio.

6 So we'll be rebalancing as part of the 7 normal rebalancing process, but no active 8 tactical decisions to reduce it any more.

9 We'll be looking at it as part of our 10 annual asset allocation five months from now.

11 MR. NAUGHTON: So has China --

12 MS. GOLDBERG: We can't quite 13 hear you down here.

14 MR. NAUGHTON: My question was 15 what, if any, reverberations has the Chinese 16 action with its currency had on investment?

17 MR. GURTZ: Yes, EM currency has 18 played a significant role in terms of the 19 impact to the portfolio. And, again, you can 20 kind of see it on the front page of page 7 21 there that EM securities haven't done well and 22 international securities haven't done well as 23 compared to domestic equities.

24 It's not the only contributing factor,

1 obviously.

2 In particular, China. China
3 performed, like I mentioned earlier, about 8
4 percent worse than the EM index itself.

5 So I haven't looked at what July's 6 China's exposure has been in terms of the 7 equity factor, because I think a lot of those 8 issues have happened more in the last couple 9 of months.

10 MR. NAUGHTON: Thank you,
11 David.

12 MS. GOLDBERG: Any other
13 questions?

14 MR. GURTZ: Thank you.

15 MS. GOLDBERG: Okay. Thank you,
16 David.

17 Eric. Eric Nierenberg and Bill Li.

18 MR. NIERENBERG: Good morning,
19 everyone. I'm Eric Nierenberg, Chief Strategy
20 Officer, accompanied by my colleague, Bill Li.

21 So I first just want to reiterate some of 22 Michael's comments.

23 Welcome to our team. First of all, Jay 24 Leu, our new director of risk, and also our

1 interns, Roy, Tia, Blake, and Nathalia.

2 A belated happy birthday to Nathalia.

3 Her birthday was Sunday.

4 MS. GOLDBERG: Happy birthday.

5 MR. NIERENBERG: It's been a busy time

6 in the strategy group, which comprises

7 portfolio completion strategies, research and 8 risk. And the team has grown, as you've seen.

9 From a strategy standpoint, some of 10 the objectives that we've pursued over the 11 last few months are to enhance the asset
12 allocation process, which we talked about back 13 in February and we'll have some more
14 enhancements to talk about next year.

15 Also we have been working on 16 formulating consistent methodologies for 17 selecting and evaluating managers across asset 18 classes. We call this, as Michael refers to 19 it affectionately, the PRIM playbook, and 20 that's going quite well.

21 We're also forging ahead with a number 22 of research projects, including on ESG, which 23 you'll hear about in just a couple of minutes.

24 And as Michael mentioned at the

1     outset, Jay is going to be leading our 2     full-scale analysis of our current risk
3     framework and also conducting the benchmark 4     review. Stay tuned for that.

5                     MR. BROUSSEAU: How long will 6     that process take?

7                     MR. NIERENBERG: Which process?

8                     MR. BROUSSEAU: The review.

9                     MR. NIERENBERG: The plan would 10    be to have something to present to you at the 11    next board meeting.

12                    Turning to PCS performance. As 13    Michael mentioned, PCS performance for the 14    fiscal year was subpar, although it was kind 15    of a tale of two stories here.

16                    The hedge fund portfolio performed 17    very well, and Bill will take you through 18    that.

19                    But overall, PCS returned 1.6 percent 20    for the fiscal year, which was 130 basis
21    points below the custom index return.

22                    Over the trailing three-, five-, and 23    ten-year periods PCS continues to outpace the 24    benchmark by a good margin.

1           The two laggards were investment in the 2 real assets portfolio, both agriculture and 3 insurance.

4           And I talked some about this at the 5 investment committee meeting, but I'll go 6 review some of the points again.

7           On the agriculture side, there were a 8 number of reasons for the underperformance, 9 but the most important two were what we call 10 the development J curve, using a private 11 equity analogy, when you're developing 12 properties, you're putting money into the 13 ground, literally in this case, but you're not 14 getting any cash flow yet because it takes -- 15 depending on the kind of crops you're growing, 16 it takes three years for wine grapes to 17 develop. It could take actually longer than 18 that for pistachios and almonds.

19           So some of that is to be expected, 20 especially when you're comparing it to a 21 benchmark that has income-producing properties 22 that are mostly mature.

23           That part I think we're comfortable 24 with.

1           The part that was more concerning was 2 the weaker-than-expected pricing in certain 3 varieties of wine grapes and in blueberries, 4 particularly on the wine grape side.

5           That's something that we're 6 monitoring. There does seem to be in parts of 7 California a glut of certain types of wine
8 grapes. That will likely persist for at least 9 a little while.

10           We're going to have to measure
11 expectations for that part of the portfolio.

12           We have placed a moratorium on new 13 capital development on the agriculture side.
14 We're reviewing every property to see where it 15 stands; what measures, if any, should be 16 taken. We'll keep you updated, if any 17 remediation measures are needed.

18           On the insurance side, that took some 19 pretty heavy hits for the year. Not so 20 surprising given that we were in the higher 21 risk space of the retrocession contracts.

22           In 2018, while the first part of the 23 year started out pretty quiet, the last part 24 of the year was very active between Hurricane

1 Michael in the Southeast and the two wildfires
2 in California, the Camp Fire and the Woolsey 3 Fire.

4           Unfortunately, the wildfires in 5 particular, are not really natural disasters.
6 They were man-made disasters. The way the 7 contracts had been written, we're still on the 8 hook for those.

9           Interestingly, most of the insurance
10 industry is now moving away from writing 11 wildfire coverage because it's just something 12 that they can't model.

13           Now, while we would expect to have 14 some degree of losses, given the magnitude of 15 the events, the full scale of the losses was 16 definitely greater than we would have 17 anticipated and mostly due to one of the two 18 managers in the portfolio having very poor 19 underwriting.

20           That manager is actually being shut 21 down. Their business is being closed, because 22 it's so poorly run.

23           As we review the program, we'll come 24 back to you in November with the final

1 proposal on this, but I think we're looking to 2 probably exit the space at the end of this 3 year.

4 Remember, it's one-year contracts, so 5 we have the ability to do that.

6 It's not so much that the losses 7 happened this past year -- part of the 8 investment thesis is that some years will be 9 bad -- it's more what we call the loss creep, 10 which is that over the last couple of years
11 when events have happened, the initial damage 12 estimates have turned out to be too low and 13 the losses coming in and keep coming in.

14 Just in June, there were significant 15 additional losses from PRIMary insurance
16 firms, like State Farm and Allstate, 17 attributed to Hurricane Michael, which 18 remember, had struck back in October of last 19 year.

20 This has taken the industry by 21 surprise and it kind of tells us that the risk 22 modeling agencies that service this insurance 23 reinsurance space don't have a great handle on 24 how much damage can actually be caused by

1 events.

2           If that's the case, then it goes from 3 being an investment with risk to an investment 4 with uncertainty.

5           Risk is something that we can model 6 and we can take what we think is the 7 appropriate amount of risk for what we think 8 would be the right return.

9           Uncertainty is a totally different 10 story.

11           Given that we have the ability to exit 12 this, I think we're leaning towards sitting 13 out of the market until we can see if the 14 industry can catch back up and model things 15 better.

16                   MR. BROUSSEAU: What protection
17 do we really have? Looking at global climate 18 change. I mean, this is an extremely 19 high-risk area. It's going to get worse.
20 It's not going to get any better.

21           And is this an area where there's 22 money to be made? Or is it like putting money 23 in a big bucket?

24                   MR. NIERENBERG: I think that's 1 an excellent question.

2 I've been doing a lot of soul
3 searching on that topic myself, and we have 4 seen things like -- it didn't turn out to be a 5 big event, but when Hurricane Barry hit the 6 Gulf earlier this year, there were charts that 7 showed that the Gulf of Mexico was warmer this 8 time in May than it ever had been in recorded 9 history, that could have made that storm a lot 10 worse than it was.

11 So while we have traditionally 12 thought, and I think is still the case, that 13 the hurricane cycles are due to these kind of 14 variations in temperature, there is a lot of 15 uncertainty about the pace of global warming 16 and what that effect is on natural disasters.

17 And to your point, I'm not sure that 18 being effectively on the short side of that 19 trend is necessarily where you want to be.

20 So that's affected our thinking as 21 well, in terms of whether this is an 22 appropriate exposure.

23 As we talk about the investment
24 committee meeting, it's still uncorrelated,

1 but that these weather events are going to be 2 massive in size and more frequent. That's not 3 a great trend.

4           Anyway, that's where we are on 5 insurance and agriculture.

6           I'll turn it over -- unless there are 7 questions on that, I'll turn it over to Bill 8 for the much more positive story on the hedge 9 fund side.

10                   MR. BROUSSEAU: That's why he 11 got the award, right?

12                   MR. NIERENBERG: Right.

13                   MR. LI: Thank you. Bill Li, 14 senior investment team officer and director of 15 PCS.

16           As Eric mentioned, the hedge fund
17 program has really had another steady year, 18 and the program accounted for over 80 percent 19 of total PCS portfolio.

20           Over the past one year, the hedge fund 21 program has been the second largest 22 contributor to the PRIT fund on a relative
23 return basis. And looking at the return 24 number, that was 3.3 percent for the trailing

1 one year, outperforming the benchmark by over 2 160 basis points.

3 For the trailing three-year period, 4 the portfolio annualized 6.6 percent, and 5 that's outperformance of more than 210 basis 6 points every year. That performance was 7 delivered with merely a .15 equity market beta 8 and a zero bond beta, and that provides strong 9 testimony to the alpha profile of the 10 investment program.

11 If you delve into the return drivers
12 of the performance, a lot of them are event 13 driven or relative value strategies, and those 14 type of investments are more idiosyncratic and 15 uncorrelated to the market in general, and 16 they don't count on the direction of the 17 markets to generate returns.

18 It's worth noting that the last fiscal 19 year has also been a busy year for the team as 20 well.

21 As you know, we are constantly
22 refining and upgrading the portfolio through 23 recycling from some of the more expensive
24 names into more innovative and more economical

1 new ideas into the portfolio. And such 2 improvement actually has no end. We're sober 3 about the fact that there's no shortcut other 4 than us being proactive, diligent, in the 5 meanwhile staying disciplined in this 6 upgrading and refining process.

7           Maybe switching gears to the equity 8 hedge program. We upsized the program per the 9 allocation discussion towards the -- earlier 10 this year. We upsized the program to 11 6 percent of total PRIT.

12           And if you may remember, this program
13 targets to reshape the distribution of S&P 14 500, and by doing so, we are targeting a solid 15 profile of risk-adjusted returns.

16           So what does a narrower and a better 17 return distribution mean?

18           It reduces some of the downside or 19 left tail risk.

20           In the meanwhile, some of the upside, 21 extreme upside or the right tail performance 22 is also curtailed.

23           However, if you participate 24 sufficiently, the moderate part of the 1 distribution, which is bell shaped, over the 2 long term, the power of compounded returns

3 eventually works in our favor.

4 Looking to the history since the 5 1990s, the strategy showed a strong tendency
6 to outperform in both down markets and normal 7 markets, yet there could be temporary 8 underperformance during market upswings.

9 We realized that experience in 2017
10 and 2018 confirmed the aforementioned
11 behavior. And earlier this year, the market 12 relentlessly snapped back.

13 If you may put that extremity into a 14 historical context, that actually was an event 15 of less than 2 percent chance.

16 Correspondingly, the strategy lagged,
17 significantly lagged, and the underperformance 18 during the first four months of this year more 19 than offset the relative gains we had in other 20 periods.

21 So if you look at the number as a
22 result for first half of the year 2019, 23 although the strategy returned 11.3 percent, 24 which is actually a very -- a fairly strong

1 number, but the relative performance and 2 underperformance was the 370 bps trailing one
3 year, was a very poor program return, 6.5
4 percent, lagging the benchmark by 260 bps.

5 Another way to look at this program is 6 to look at its operation. It's unclear --
7 it's not right to look at its performance 8 without taking a look at the risk that you're 9 assuming.

10 Since inception, this program's 11 return -- risk adjusted return actually 12 matched that of the S&P 500. So that, again, 13 led us to believe that this underperformance 14 was more likely temporary, and this strategy 15 has been functioning well so far.

16 As Michael and Eric mentioned that 17 with Jay's help, our new risk director's help, 18 going forward we are going to think hard of 19 alternative ways of benchmarking.

20 And with that, we are happy to take 21 any questions you may have on hedge funds, 22 PCS, or the equity hedge program.

23 MS. GOLDBERG: Any questions?

24 Okay.

1 MR. LI: Investment
2 recommendation, which is also a voting item.

3 RV Capital is a single based 4 global macro manager, trading currencies,
5 interest rates, and credit instruments.

6 Even though categorized as a global 7 macro manager, the manager actually covers
8 only the Asia Pacific region.

9 Within Asia Pacific there are 13
10 tradable markets that are highly fragmented in 11 terms of culture, language, political system, 12 economic development stage, as well as central 13 bank policy.

14 RV Capital has a top-down approach
15 trading across these 13 markets. The manager 16 has a potential 15 macro themes and they are 17 more value in nature.

18 Pricing dislocations happen now and 19 then due to economical reasons or global -- 20 just the global noise.

21 Uncertainty, such as Brexit or 22 international treaty dispute, tend to cause 23 overreactions in the market.

24 RV Capital intends to capture such

1 overreactions and patiently wait for asset
2 pricing to revert to the fair valuation.

3 Performance-wise, RV Capital has a 4 significantly better track record than their 5 global macro peers. And that was partly 6 because they have a very clear advantage.
7 That is the high barrier to information, local 8 knowledge, and the ability to analyze them.

9 The other part of the reason was 10 attributed to RV Capital's strict risk 11 practice.

12 Those together resulted in this return 13 stream and track records, and we expect the 14 manager to deliver a high single-digit gross 15 return with a volatility around 5 percent.

16 PRIM's investment of $150 million USD
17 would account for 20 percent of the firm's 18 total AUM.

19 And that sizing proposal to you tries 20 to balance considerations including our 21 staff's conviction in the alpha profile of the 22 manager, correlation of this manager's return
23 characteristic versus the PRIT total funds, 24 and also the business terms consideration as

1 well as capacity constraints of such a
2 strategy and trading in that part of the 3 world.

4 PRIT has negotiated very favorable
5 terms and a strategy will be implemented in a 6 dedicated managed account, and that we view as 7 a big plus.

8 And with that, we open the floor for 9 any questions.

10 MS. GOLDBERG: Well, should I
11 seek a motion now?

12 MR. TROTSKY: Sure.

13 MS. GOLDBERG: Typically we do a 14 motion and a second prior to the description.

15 You were already into your first 16 sentence, so we didn't want to interrupt.

17 So I would seek a motion that the PRIM
18 board approve the investment committee's 19 recommendation to approve an initial 20 allocation of $150 million to RV Capital Asia 21 Opportunity Strategy managed account, as 22 described in the expanded agenda, and to 23 further authorize the executive director to 24 take all action necessary to effectuate this

1 vote.

2 Is there a motion?

3 MR. SHANLEY: Moved.

4 MR. BROUSSEAU: Second.

5 MS. GOLDBERG: Now, questions
6 and discussion among the board members?

7 MR. SHANLEY: Bill just 8 addressed it. That was the one issue that 9 came up with Connie Everson, about $150 10 million into a $600 million fund, and 11 they've -- that issue did come up with the 12 investment committee.

13 MS. GOLDBERG: Any other
14 questions on the part of the board?

15 Okay. Hearing none, we have a motion.
16 We have a second.

17 All those in favor?

18 Any opposed.

19 Hearing none, the motion carries.

20 (Unanimous vote.)

21 MS. GOLDBERG: Thank you, Bill.

22 MS. GARRAHAN: We will be 23 talking about ESG.

24 So let me start off with ESG.

1 That is an acronym that I'm sure some of you
2 have heard, maybe too often, and some of you 3 maybe not at all.

4 I figured I would define it first 5 before I start using it all over the 6 presentation.

7 ESG stands for Environmental Social 8 Governance, data.

9 Let's flip to Appendix E where I just 10 have some slides on a very large topic.

11 I believe it's page 2 of Appendix E.

12 Although investment philosophies
13 related to ESG have been around for decades, 14 this space has been rapidly evolving over the 15 last few years, from terminology, acronyms,
16 availability of products, and even data 17 collection.

18 In order to understand this vast 19 space, the research team has decided to pursue 20 a three-pillar approach which surveys the 21 entire financial industry to understand what 22 the views and actions of asset owners, asset
23 managers, and data providers are regarding ESG 24 to date.

1           Let's so flip to the next slide.

2           This really just talks about the 3 research framework in general and how it
4 relates to ESG.

5           And so across all of our research at 6 PRIM, we try to focus on this three-stage 7 process. The first one is Review. Second is 8 Replicate. And third is Revise.

9           And with ESG, this is even more 10 important because this topic is so -- the 11 definitions of this topic, the way people are 12 implementing this topic change drastically 13 across the entire financial industry that it's 14 really important to understand what people are 15 doing right now, what are the lessons learned 16 from our peers and our other practitioners, 17 and how can we approach this phase and learn 18 from their actions.

19           The start of this project is Phase I, 20 which is a review of the financial industry 21 across these three pillars.

22           In addition to that, we also have 23 started collaboration efforts with PRIM staff 24 to understand ongoing ESG initiatives and

1 policies, both internally and also investment 2 related.

3 As this is not only just an external 4 financial industry research experiment, it's 5 also to understand what we are doing here at 6 PRIM and then how can we make that better.

7 Finally, I just want to highlight that 8 PRIM staff will be discussing ESG research in 9 much more detail at the annual upcoming board 10 retreat.

11 So I don't know if it's time for 12 questions. I tried to be short and sweet on 13 this.

14 MS. GOLDBERG: So I know I'm 15 going to be repetitive from the investment 16 committee meeting. However, we have a larger 17 group here today.

18 So I participated in an outstanding
19 panel at the Institute that I mentioned
20 earlier today on ESG.

21 We had a broad range of people there.
22 I'm trying to get the video of that event, but 23 I have found that they didn't start taping it 24 -- interestingly enough, they missed the

1 entire definition or lack thereof or 2 multi-definitions of ESG, and they didn't 3 start taping until I began speaking.

4 I wonder what that was.

5 Now, the good news is I was the first 6 speaker after the terrific woman who did the 7 broad range of definitions, because there are 8 a broad range of definitions.

9 So we are going to get that tape 10 available for people, which I think would be 11 interesting.

12 We talked -- this is an area that is 13 focused on in a different way by every state, 14 depending upon what their -- whether their 15 legislatures have ever spoken to the topic 16 and/or created any kind of guardrails that 17 would prevent or would assist in helping these 18 kind of investments to occur.

19 But the one general comment is that 20 ESG investments can be done and still you are 21 fulfilling your fiduciary duty when you do the 22 kind of analysis that PRIM is intending to do 23 in terms of testing for risk.

24 And, in fact, there are ESG portfolios

1 that are outperforming some other portfolios.
2 So, consequently, it behooves us to not be 3 looking at this.

4 And, again, this is not what I would 5 refer to as a granola idea of a crunchy thing 6 to be doing that's socially exciting but not 7 fulfilling our fiduciary duty of ensuring that 8 we continue to grow the funds and meet the 9 needs of our beneficiaries.

10 And so I really compliment Maria on 11 the work that she's doing.

12 This may be short and sweet. However,
13 I happen to know that there is a 64-page one
14 that --

15 MR. TROTSKY: The PRIMER is in 16 draft form.

17 MS. GARRAHAN: That's the first 18 round.

19 MS. GOLDBERG: So I think 20 it's -- we are actually not behind on doing 21 this analysis, because I think that the great 22 part about our strategy is that we have waited 23 until there's been more testing of the space 24 because you can't just jump into something

1 like this, given our fiduciary duties.

2           And so I think this is great. I can't 3 wait to read the PRIMER. I think that we will 4 come up with some very good investments that 5 we can look at.

6           And I will get you a copy of the 7 video, which will begin with someone that you 8 recognize.

9           MR. TROTSKY: So this is another 10 area where I have a lot of confidence that 11 this team will be innovative and, perhaps, 12 approach this in a manner that is highly 13 differentiated and hopefully what we term is a 14 double bottom line additive to our fiduciary 15 responsibility and also an additive to our 16 aspirations to show progress on ESG 17 investment.

18           Right?

19           MS. GARRAHAN: Yes. Definitely.
20 Definitely.

21           I mean, I think that it is a really 22 interesting space. And as the treasurer was 23 saying, there are some people that have been 24 working in this space actively doing research

1 for a few years now. And the good thing about 2 this strategy that we have is that we're 3 not -- we're using that research that they've 4 been doing, right?

5 Maybe our resources have not been 6 dedicated to that during that time frame, but 7 we get to use what they've learned and 8 incorporate that in our process.

9 And I think, honestly, starting with 10 this really holistic view of the financial 11 industry is very, very key to our process
12 because maybe there are attributes from each 13 side, buy side, sell side, and data providers 14 that we can use and implement in our process 15 that we have to date.

16 And I do want to stress that 17 everything that we are looking into and in 18 terms of strategies, in terms of the way that 19 people are implementing ESG, everything is 20 part of a methodical process, which is really 21 important in this space, because at the end of 22 the day -- I was up here in Q1 of 2019 talking 23 about our number one goal here at PRIM, which 24 is this dual objective, and that still remains

1 the case.

2 So it's really important to look at 3 this space, understand what's going on, try to 4 make our own suggestions and recommendations 5 for what is good for PRIM specifically and 6 test those recommendations to make sure that 7 it still goes alongside as a complementary 8 item to our dual objective that we have.

9 MR. TROTSKY: Perfect.

10 MS. GOLDBERG: Okay. Thank you.

11 MR. TROTSKY: Mike McGirr will 12 be filling in for Mike Bailey.

13 MR. MC GIRR: Good morning.

14 MS. GOLDBERG: We do have a lot
15 of Michaels, including my husband.

16 MR. TROTSKY: Hurricane Michael.

17 MS. GOLDBERG: My husband is 18 Hurricane Michael?

19 MS. FITCH: That was just an 20 afterthought.

21 MR. MC GIRR: Good morning. As 22 Michael Trotsky has already mentioned, we were 23 thrilled in late July to receive our number
24 one ranking from the American Investment

1 Council for the second straight year.

2 And one note I would like to mention
3 is this is a pretty deep sample of 165 public 4 pensions that have been investing in private 5 equity for over ten years. So a very large 6 sample size.

7 The recognition is fantastic. We view
8 it as a reflection of the team, the process, 9 and the commitment we have to the asset class.

10 And I'd like to mention our investment 11 consultant Hamilton Lane's contributions. As 12 a reminder, Hamilton Lane has been our 13 investment consultant for over ten years now.
14 So that number is definitely theirs as well.

15 I think the results reflect the fact
16 that we have a high-quality portfolio, and I 17 think that gives us an advantage in terms of 18 evaluating new investments. And I'll talk a 19 little bit about that when I discuss the 20 pipeline.

21 So that's in the past, that's the 22 ten-year number from last June.

23 So what have you done for me lately?
24 What does the portfolio look like?

1           So starting with performance, for the 2     quarter, we had a decent quarter at 6.4
3     percent. That's a big step up from the prior 4     quarter, which as a reminder, we're always a 5     quarter lag. So our Q1 was really a 6     reflection of the very difficult Q4 that 7     everybody has already discussed where we were 8     down almost 2 percent.

9           So adding that 6.4 percent for the 10    quarter takes us to an annual number of 18.5 11    percent, which contributed about 32 percent of 12    the PRIT funds' total return. So about 30 13    percent of the profits driven from private 14    equity.

15           That 18.5 percent one-year number is 16    also 120 basis points of relative
17    outperformance versus its benchmark.

18           And with the value up in the quarter, 19    the private equity program hits a new high 20    water mark at $8.5 billion, or 11.3 percent, 21    of the PRIT fund. Again, up from Q1.

22           The drivers of the quarter were really 23    growth equity.

24           The rest of the portfolio, buy-outs,

1 small and large, as well as venture capital,
2 also had good quarters. So broad-based 3 performance across the portfolio.

4 And importantly, as Mike Bailey likes
5 to call it, the cash machine is still running.

6 So we are generating about $1.8
7 billion of distributions in the form of cash 8 which needs to be reinvested, or about an 9 equivalent of about 20 percent of the value of 10 the private equity portfolio coming back in 11 cash to be redeployed.

12 A quick comment on private debt, which 13 was an underperformer for the year.

14 Private debt, which is a small portion
15 of the PRIT fund, 1.7 percent of the PRIT 16 fund, returned just over 4 percent for the 17 year.

18 And that's underperforming relative to 19 benchmark, which is, as a reminder, the Altman 20 index, which is a three-year blend of '17, '18 21 and '19. So comparing a one-year number 22 versus a stronger three-year number, PRIMarily 23 explains the lack of performance.

24 In terms of new investments, we don't

1 have anything to talk about today, which is 2 rare for us.

3 So I thought I would take just a 4 moment and talk about the pipeline and where 5 we are for the year.

6 To date, we've committed $1.1 billion
7 of new investments, including co-investments 8 as well as fund commitments. And we expect to 9 get to that 1.7 billion target that we 10 outlined for you at the start of the calendar 11 year.

12 Looking at our pipeline, we think it's 13 reasonable to get to that goal.

14 And thinking about our pipeline, we 15 have no new investments today. But behind the 16 scenes, we counted up all the investment 17 opportunities that we looked at, that we 18 evaluated in one way, shape, or form for the 19 entire fiscal year 2019.

20 And we looked at 186 opportunities
21 that we declined, compared to the investment 22 opportunities that we bring to you every 23 quarter.

24 So that funnel, that pipeline gives us

1 great context for selection.

2 And back to the high-quality portfolio
3 that we have built here. Any new investment 4 opportunity we get to compare and see, is this 5 going to be additive to the portfolio or not?

6 So I think that gives us a huge 7 advantage going forward.

8 Moving on to staffing. We're 9 thrilled, as we all know, to have Sarah 10 joining our team and we're hoping to add 11 another team member shortly.

12 With that, I'm going to stop my 13 prepared remarks and I'm happy to take any 14 comments or questions regarding the pipeline 15 portfolio, the team, or the market.

16 MS. GOLDBERG: Thank you, Mike.

17 MR. TROTSKY: I think it's 18 interesting that you funded 16 new private 19 equity funds this year for 1.8 billion, but 20 you passed on more than ten times that many.

21 What may be lost is you do the same 22 amount of work on all of them. So you're 23 looking at nearly 200 deals a year, at the 24 very least, and it's a whole lot of detail.

1           So what we approved, though it seems a 2 lot, it's just a fraction of the work that you 3 do, and saying no is a difficult thing and 4 also takes a lot of time and effort to get 5 there though.

6                   MS. GOLDBERG: So questions from 7 the board?

8                   MR. BROUSSEAU: I was reading 9 someplace that pensions and investments, they 10 were talking about that probably private 11 equity is not going to be so rosy in the 12 future because there is so much -- everybody's 13 wanting to get into the asset class, and a lot 14 of money is going to be dumped there, and it's 15 going to impact the quality, I guess, the 16 assets and return, they may not be there.

17                   Do you have any -- get any feedback on 18 that, Michael?

19                   MR. MC GIRR: I have a couple of 20 comments.

21                   That dynamic has certainly been 22 present my entire investing career. I don't 23 think it's necessarily new. It's an asset 24 class that allocators such as ourselves are

1 looking at and saying, This is a strategic 2 area for us that we want to grow.

3 Therefore, I think it makes it more
4 competitive. I think it makes selection more 5 difficult. It's more complex. The 6 environment is more complex.

7 And if you think about our portfolio, 8 some of these positions that we have are very 9 coveted positions with outstanding investment 10 managers.

11 A new entrant to the market is 12 unlikely to be able to gain access to those 13 very highly sought after fund positions.

14 So that's where having a longstanding 15 approach, having the experience that PRIM has, 16 I think it's an advantage relative to a new 17 entrant to the market.

18 MR. BROUSSEAU: I can see what 19 we've been doing and, based on co-investment, 20 is that we have approved three of them. I
21 mean, excellent. We've done -- that's why I 22 couldn't follow the reasoning in the article 23 about this and I don't know where it was 24 coming from.

1 MS. GOLDBERG: Okay.

2 Any other questions?

3 Thank you, Mike.

4 MR. TROTSKY: Thank you,
5 Michael.

6 MS. GOLDBERG: Tim. Tim
7 Schlitzer.

8 MR. SCHLITZER: Good morning.

9 I'm going to start off by welcoming 10 Christina back from her leave. She is a huge 11 contributor on our team. As Michael mentioned 12 earlier, she really did lead on the $1 billion 13 capital commitment to a number of managers 14 that wrapped up earlier this year.

15 I also want to thank John who was part 16 of that process and a lot of other important 17 things that we do around here, and then in 18 particular, for some additional contribution 19 during that time over the last few months.

20 Lastly, I just want to acknowledge and 21 thank Yijie, who, as Michael mentioned 22 earlier, worked very hard as an intern on our 23 team, did a great job, and we very much 24 appreciated that.

1 I do not have any voting items for 2 today and none were presented at the committee 3 level either.

4 There is some portfolio-level
5 information in Appendix F which I will treat
6 as reference material, as I typically do.

7 But I'm going to make a few comments 8 on the environment and then a few comments on 9 performance, and we'll move on.

10 And feel free to guide me as I go.

11 So the US private markets in real 12 estate continue to be very dynamic.

13 Transaction volume is pacing about $450
14 billion this year.

15 For context, that's about 10 percent 16 below last year, 2018, but still approaching 17 2007 levels.

18 So very, again, dynamic and very high
19 liquidity in this environment.

20 And then, just to add to that, dry 21 powder, so this is money that's been raised by 22 the manager universe, sitting at about 330 23 billion, that's 30 percent higher than where 24 it was at the end of 2017. So there continues

1 to be a lot of interest in this asset class.

2 And I would imagine that the lower 3 interest rate environment that we seem to be, 4 at least for right now, I won't forecast here,
5 but will certainly add to that dynamic.

6 Pricing has generally been pretty
7 stable. We've seen a little bit of softening 8 here and there, which seems to be as a result 9 of certain investors, similar to PRIM, pulling 10 out of the large open-ended core funds.

11 And more anecdotally, what we've heard 12 is that really that is a desire to risk-up, 13 frankly. They're not taking it out of the 14 real estate asset class. They are putting it 15 into riskier value-added strategies.

16 I did want to confirm that that is not 17 PRIM's strategy right now.

18 You'll note in the materials that we 19 are less than 5 percent in non-core strategies 20 currently and that has been decreasing.

21 We have allocated a little bit of 22 additional capital to warehouse development.
23 But that's 100 million, which is small dollars
24 in the broader context.

1           We are close to PRIM's 10 percent
2     asset class midpoint. The focus right now 3     really is on allocating and investing that 4     $1 billion that I just mentioned to new 5     managers and then also working with our 6     existing managers to allocate to what we deem 7     to be fairly priced core investments that we 8     can hold for the long term.

9           Lastly, on real estate, REITs are up 10    15 percent globally year to date, almost 22 11    percent in the US year to date. We are 12    gradually implementing the approved plan to 13    use REITs effectively as liquidity for some of 14    the private investments that we're making.

15           So we're decreasing public real estate
16    exposure, increasing private real estate
17    exposure, but doing it in a very measured way.
18    We are not tactical in selling REITs. But 19    given the performance year-to-date, it's 20    certainly hard to argue that this is a bad 21    time to be doing that. So that's the way we 22    look at it.

23           I'll just make a couple of points on 24    timber and then get to performance.

1           So in contrast to real estate, capital
2 markets in timberland have been fairly quiet
3 this year. We don't read into this. It's a 4 much smaller market than real estate, and 5 we're used to it, but I figured that I would 6 point it out. Even less is trading now than 7 usual.

8           That could be, I think, related to a 9 lot of the unknown that is in the market right 10 now, with the key variable really being the 11 impact of tariffs on timber pricing.

12           Particularly, in the Pacific
13 Northwest, prices have decreased 20 to 25
14 percent in that region, as the US has 15 effectively become the high-cost producer and 16 exporter to China. So that is having an 17 impact.

18           PRIM's investments in Australia and 19 New Zealand could benefit from this. I think 20 the potential offset to that is whether China 21 and Australia continue to slow overall. It's 22 too early to tell how this is going to play 23 out, but we will continue to monitor it.

24           I'll probably leave it at that for

1 timber, but I'm happy to answer any questions 2 that there may be.

3 So just speaking to real estate
4 performance first. Real estate, which, again, 5 is 9.4 percent of PRIT, returned 6.1 percent 6 on a gross basis for the fiscal year versus 7 7.3 percent for the asset class benchmark.

8 That is underperformance, as has been 9 noted, of 126 basis points.

10 We thought that we would point out 11 four major contributors to that 12 underperformance.

13 A couple of them I really do believe 14 are kind of purely technical issues that I'll 15 explain, and then there are a couple of other 16 valuation issues that I'll go through as well.

17 So, first of all, you know that we do 18 have a benchmark lag. So when we roll our 19 one-year benchmark forward to make it more 20 apples to apples, the benchmark did come down 21 32 basis points. That's our private 22 benchmark, but that's really the majority of 23 the entire asset class benchmark.

24 So when we lower that, that probably

1 roughly lowers the asset class benchmark by 2 25, 26 basis points, which does lower that 3 underperformance. So it's purely a timing 4 matter.

5 Related to our portfolio-level debt, 6 we did lose approximately 60 basis points in 7 performance on the private return for the year 8 due to mark-to-market on our debt.

9 And let me just explain that for a 10 second.

11 So accounting rules, the GAAP rules do 12 require that we value the debt that we owe, 13 effectively. And the best way to look at it, 14 I think, is really to take the lender's 15 perspective in this case.

16 When interest rates go down, as 17 they've done significantly over the past year, 18 that loan, from the lender's perspective,
19 becomes more valuable to them. So they write 20 up the asset on their books.

21 At the same time, as the borrower, we 22 are considering that liability to have also 23 increased on our end, which does have a 24 negative impact on performance.

1           This is happening to everybody right
2 now. We did hear from our real estate
3 committee that that was the case.

4           I think intuitively, it does make 5 sense, but it clearly did have an impact on 6 our numbers.

7           The two areas that are less technical, 8 I would say, is you know that we did just 9 terminate one of our managers, JP Morgan, in 10 the last year and a number of those assets 11 were transferred to another one of our 12 managers.

13           And in reviewing those assets, the new 14 manager did elect, and we think rightfully so, 15 to write some of them down.

16           We think we clearly have addressed the 17 problem with the manager itself. We are 18 dealing with valuation on these assets, which 19 I think generally had been written down to 20 supply in the markets that they are in. They 21 cannot increase rents. They have to give free 22 rent. That impacts the cash flows, so we 23 write down the properties.

24           And lastly, PRIM's largest asset,

1 which is an office building in Washington, DC,
2 was written down approximately $18 million.
3 DC has been a very tough market. They have 4 seen supply, legal and government, clearly
5 downsizing right now. We are spending more 6 capital to be competitive and fighting the 7 tide, frankly, in terms of trying to attract 8 tenants. So that has impacted valuation.

9 I will note that all three of us are 10 going down to Washington tomorrow to spend the 11 day touring and looking at the asset.

12 So let me jump to timberland.
13 Timberland for the year returned 1.8 percent 14 on a gross basis. That's versus the 2.4 15 percent benchmark.

16 The opposite dynamic here with the 17 lag. The lag here actually increased the 18 underperformance. So I do want to point that 19 out. So underperformance went from about 55 20 basis points to roughly 110 basis points.

21 There is one PRIMary reason for the 22 underperformance here, and it has been 23 discussed in other areas of the meeting. We 24 did have a property that was directly impacted

1 by Hurricane Michael, and that was in one of 2 our manager's, our southern manager, FIA's 3 account. That particular property had 4 performance of negative 41 percent for the 5 year. That's approximately a $69 million 6 write-down.

7           It is what it is to a certain extent, 8 but I do want to let you know. We try to 9 learn from everything that happens. And I
10 think this has probably caused us to take a 11 little bit of a different view on how we look 12 at properties that are that close to the 13 coast, especially when they are as large and 14 kind of contiguous as this one was.

15           So, again, always lessons to be 16 learned. But luckily, it is part of the 17 diversified portfolio.

18           We are awaiting insurance and some 19 federal disaster relief funds that could have 20 a more positive impact, but we are pretty 21 upfront about the fact that this is going to 22 be a bit of a slog to get out of long term.

23           So I'm sorry to end on, I guess, a 24 somewhat sour note here, but we do think that

1 these problems have or are being addressed,
2 and we'll work hard to have better performance 3 next year.

4 MS. GOLDBERG: I think you're 5 gREIT, Tim. So I'm not ending on a sour note.

6 MR. SCHLITZER: I appreciate
7 that.

8 MR. TROTSKY: In the largest area
9 of underperformance is this technical account 10 in mark-to-market on the debt. The debt 11 program has been very additive over the years.
12 It's been gREIT. It's just like a mortgage on 13 your house where you can borrow cheaply and 14 lever up the portfolio.

15 Importantly in my mind, it doesn't 16 change the valuations of the property or their 17 cash flows. It doesn't change our cash flow.
18 It's just a pure accounting thing that could 19 easily reverse, too, at some point.

20 MR. SCHLITZER: I'll just 21 quickly add to that. Our interest rate is 3.1
22 percent. These loans represent about 25
23 percent of the total portfolio value. So this 24 is very, very conservative leverage, and it is 1 a mark-to-market issue.

2 MR. BROUSSEAU: I appreciate
3 that. I've always believed as low leverage as 4 you can get.

5 MR. SCHLITZER: Agreed.

6 MR. BROUSSEAU: Sometimes it
7 works to your advantage.

8 I remember years back, we were looking 9 at some very high leverage and thank God we 10 got out of it before everything went south.
11 Right, Bob?

12 MR. SHANLEY: Yes.

13 MR. BROUSSEAU: Yes.

14 MR. SCHLITZER: GREIT.

15 MR. TROTSKY: Just a question.
16 When does some of our debt mature and is there 17 a chance to -- with interest rates so low, is 18 there a chance to roll into something better?

19 MR. SCHLITZER: It's a gREIT
20 point. It's a staggered maturity schedule.
21 But we do have also, roughly, a couple hundred 22 million dollars that's rolling next year. And 23 we actually had a meeting yesterday with a 24 group that we work with in sort of a

1 debt-raising capacity to talk a little bit 2 about that very subject. So we will be back
3 to this group, I think even in November, 4 probably to talk more about the debt strategy 5 going forward.

6 MR. TROTSKY: Excellent.

7 Thank you.

8 MS. GOLDBERG: So we have no
9 voting items. This was just an update.

10 Any other questions on this?

11 Okay. Hearing none.

12 Thank you very much.

13 MR. SCHLITZER: Thank you.

14 MS. GOLDBERG: Okay. Tony, this 15 is still to be amended?

16 MR. FALZONE: Yes.

17 MS. GOLDBERG: This is Tony 18 Falzone. F-a-l-z-o-n-e.

19 MR. FALZONE: Good afternoon, 20 everyone.

21 MS. GOLDBERG: Yes, it's 12:01.

22 MR. FALZONE: I have three 23 items, none of which are voting items.

24 I'll go through them fairly quickly

1 in the interest of time.

2 And I'll start at the bottom of page 3 13 of the agenda. The schedule is a work in 4 progress. I'm going to solicit help from the 5 strategy team and see if we can get this taken 6 care of.

7 MR. BROUSSEAU: I can throw away
8 all the previous ones?

9 MR. FALZONE: Hopefully. We'll 10 keep working to make sure we have a schedule 11 that provides us with the maximum amount of 12 participation. So we'll keep doing that. And 13 that's my first item.

14 MR. BROUSSEAU: We will be 15 talking about the admin before we meet in 16 November?

17 MR. FALZONE: That's right.

18 MR. BROUSSEAU: We'll finalize
19 it in November?

20 MR. FALZONE: That's right.
21 Ultimately, our goal is to have a schedule in 22 the admin and audit package.

23 MS. GOLDBERG: Our goal is to 24 have a schedule.

1 MR. FALZONE: Yes. I don't 2 want to get too ahead of myself, but, yes, 3 hopefully we'll have something for you to 4 approve in November.

5 MR. BROUSSEAU: We're moving
6 closer and closer to what we did with December 7 meetings to the board; we tried to keep it at 8 least a week before Thanksgiving.

9 MR. FALZONE: I do want to 10 mention one item that impacts this year's 11 schedule, which is the board retREIT which was 12 scheduled for September 24. Some of you may 13 know, some of you may not know. We need to 14 reschedule that date. So we'll be working to 15 do that.

16 You'll probably see an e-mail go 17 out. We need to make sure as many of the 18 board members can be there as possible to make 19 it productive.

20 MS. GOLDBERG: We were missing
21 several board members last year, which I 22 thought was a real shame.

23 Given that we're discussing ESG, among 24 other things, we really need full board

1 participation. I would like to get 100
2 percent commitment.

3 MR. FALZONE: So we'll vet the 4 date with all nine board members before we 5 commit to --

6 MR. BROUSSEAU: October?
7 November?

8 MR. FALZONE: Yes. I'm hoping.

9 MS. GOLDBERG: It will be in 10 Florida in January, transportation provided by 11 Peter.

12 MR. FALZONE: Yes, yes.

13 MS. GOLDBERG: We're going to 14 Cuba. Right, Peter?

15 MR. FALZONE: So moving on to 16 the next item, which is on the top of page 14, 17 board governance manual review update.

18 So if you bear with me, this is 19 a little bit lengthy, but I want to make sure 20 everyone understands the process.

21 So at the admin and audit committee
22 meeting, earlier this year in February, there 23 was a consensus that an informal ad hoc 24 working group will be cREITed to review the

1 remaining topics that were not addressed when 2 we did the cosmetic revisions back in August 3 of the prior year.

4           So the working group consisted of the 5 following administration and audit committee
6 members: Bob Brousseau as the chair,
7 Treasurer Goldberg, Pat Brock, Eileen Glovsky, 8 James Hearty, and Dennis Naughton.

9           So the working group met on May 2, 10 2019. And after thorough discussion, the 11 working group voted to recommend no further 12 changes to the governance manual at this time.

13           So it's a process that we go through 14 every three years. So three years from now, 15 we'll start the process again.

16           But I do want to personally thank 17 everyone that participated, all the Board
18 members, committee members, that helped bring 19 this across the finish line.

20           If there's no questions, I can move on 21 to the next item.

22           Good. Thank you.

23           The next item is the board's 24 self-evaluation process.

1           So this is per the board's 2 self-evaluation policy, which is within the 3 board governance manual.

4           The board's self-evaluation process is 5 to be initiated during the fourth quarter of 6 the calendar year.

7           So Cortex will distribute the board
8 performance questionnaire. They'll collect 9 survey responses, invite board members to 10 expand on their survey responses if they 11 choose to, and ultimately tabulate results and 12 provide those results to the administration 13 and audit committee chair.

14           The chair will then present the 15 results to the admin and audit committee to 16 discuss following the administration and 17 audit -- following that, the administration 18 audit chair will then report the discussion to 19 the Board.

20           This will take place at the first 21 administration and audit committee and Board 22 meetings of the 2020 calendar year when we 23 have those meetings scheduled.

24           And that's my prepared comments.

1 Thank you.

2 MS. GOLDBERG: Thank you.

3 MR. FALZONE: You're welcome.

4 MS. GOLDBERG: Any questions or 5 comments on behalf of the board members?

6 All right. There's no voting items
7 here?

8 MR. FALZONE: Thank you.

9 MS. GOLDBERG: So moving right
10 along, I'm looking at you.

11 MR. SUPPLE: I'm happy to report
12 that there are no legal or legislative matters 13 that need to be reported on.

14 MR. BROUSSEAU: Just one point I 15 would like to make. I should have done it at 16 the very beginning.

17 I think many of us realize that our 18 colleague Jim Hearty is not here.

19 And I think we all got the e-mails and 20 know that Jim has had a relatively serious 21 accident, which has, of course, I think 22 hospitalized him, and it was serious.

23 I would like to put on the record, at 24 least, that the board sends their best wishes

1 to Jim for a very speedy recovery. We look 2 forward to seeing him back here at the board.

3 MR. TROTSKY: So the latest
4 update, and thank you for reminding me, Bob.

5 MS. GOLDBERG: You were nervous
6 about your evaluation.

7 MR. TROTSKY: I was, and my root 8 canal.

9 But he did take a fall, I think --

10 MS. GOLDBERG: It's been a 11 couple of weeks.

12 MR. TROTSKY: -- the end of 13 July.

14 MR. BROUSSEAU: The day before
15 the investment committee meeting.

16 MS. GOLDBERG: He's had a lot of 17 complications.

18 MR. TROTSKY: He went home,
19 seemed to be okay. We talked to him a few 20 times. Then he developed some complications 21 where they realized he had a punctured lung 22 and other things, and he got an infection and 23 ended up back in the hospital.

24 MS. GOLDBERG: Really bad.

1                   MR. TROTSKY: But the reports 2 are that he's recovering fine and will be 3 going home tomorrow, Wednesday.

4                   MR. BROUSSEAU: He's at the at 5 Brigham?

6                   MR. TROTSKY: He's at the 7 Brigham, yes.

8                   MR. BROUSSEAU: He's had a long 9 journey, that's for sure.

10                   MS. GOLDBERG: Yes.
11 So there are no legal matters.

12                   MR. BROUSSEAU: Motion to 13 adjourn.

14                   MS. GOLDBERG: Motion to 15 adjourn.

16                   MS. FITCH: Seconded.

17                   MS. GOLDBERG: All those in 18 favor?

19                   Any opposed.

20
21                   (Unanimous vote.)

22
23                   MS. GOLDBERG: Thank you.

24                   (Concluded at 12:09 p.m.)
